BENNETT:

'Downstream Power Sales Essential'

Peace for Home Consumption, Columbia for Americans.

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett's hydro-electric power policy for B.C. is the Peace River for home consumption only, the Columbia for the Americans.

BELOW GRAUER

$40,000 Salary For Shrum

A $40,000-a-year salary will be paid Dr. Gordon Shrum as chairman and president of the new publicly-owned B.C. Electric Company, Premier Bennett announced today.

He gave pay and posts for all six directors of the new company, effective Sept. 1.

All are believed considerably below the salaries paid to officers of the old privately-owned company.

It is reported that Dr. A. E. Grauer received about $30,000 a year when he was chairman.

Second highest paid man in the new company is Dr. H. L. Purdy, former BCE president, who now is vice-president in charge of operations. He will get $35,000 a year, but is not on the board of directors.

GUNDERSON: $27,500

Einar M. Gunderson, a director and vice-president in charge of finance, will receive a total salary of $27,500.

William C. Means, director and vice-president in charge of development, will get the same.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, appointed deputy chairman of the board, will receive no extra pay. He gets $17,500 a year as a cabinet minister.

The other two directors, Hon. Frank M. Ross and lawyer Arthur Foules, will receive only directors fees of $2,500 a year.

Mr. Gunderson will also lose his salary as vice-president of the PGE Railway. But the premier said it was not as much as he will receive from the B.C. Electric.

The policy became apparent after two press conferences here — one Tuesday afternoon, the other this morning.

Mr. Bennett said that B.C. needs to sell Columbia downstream benefits to the U.S. in order to finance the project.

He set his price today at 5 mills.

This, he said, would be "an adequate price" and higher than B.C. consumers would pay for power produced in B.C.

His condition for going ahead on the Columbia:

"The price must be settled before we agree with Ottawa."

"We need this money to finance the Columbia," he said.

PAY FOR ITSELF

At the same time, Mr. Bennett said the Peace River project being developed by the publicly-owned B.C. Electric would sell enough power in B.C. to pay for itself. The Energy Board has estimated cost of this power at 4.20 mills.

It will not be necessary, apparently, for B.C. to export any Peace River power at all. In fact the premier left a strong impression that he does not intend to do this.

The Columbia, if it goes ahead, will be largely paid for through the sale of the downstream benefits, and its dams will not be used to generate any power until late in the century when either B.C. needs it, or there is a relaxation of Ottawa's ban on exporting power.

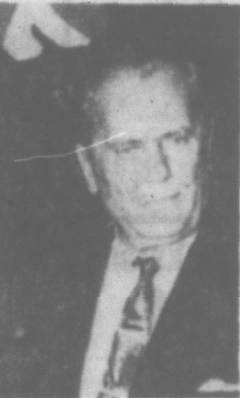

Mr. Bennett does not consider sale of the downstream benefits as export. In fact, he said that if they were returned to the Canadian border as power, it would be "import."

SOUND BUSINESS

By taking over the Peace project and starting right away, B.C. has ensured that Columbia negotiations will be "on sound business principles, not politics," said the premier.

He appears sure he can make the Americans meet his terms for the downstream benefits — power produced in the U.S. through water storage and

Cuban Ship Hijacked To Jamaica

NEW YORK (AP)—Passengers aboard a Cuban coastal ship, armed with pistols and spearfishing equipment, took over the vessel and forced its captain to put into Jamaica today, the National Broadcasting Company reported.

The report, by John Hlavacek, NBC correspondent in Jamaica, said 29 of the 30 passengers asked asylum.

He said the report came from the captain after the ship arrived at Port Antonio, a Jamaica seaport.

The name of the captain, and the ship, and other details, were not available immediately.

$10 MILLION PROGRAM

Building Sparks Jobs for Winter

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Sparked by a tremendous surge in new apartment and housing building, Greater Victoria is entering the winter construction season with a program estimated today to total $10 million or better.

In the city of Victoria alone, projects in sight for the next six months total well over the $6 million mark. It could go over $8 million, a city official said, with approval of the $1,115,000 downtown parking plan to be voted on Thursday, along with several other deals which are in preliminary stages of negotiation.

Long-term prospects for construction in the Victoria area also look good with several multi-million dollar projects already in view.

MARINE SERVICE

Largest of these is the federal transport plan to put up a $2,500,000 marine service headquarters next to the CPR terminal. Funds for this building are to be appropriated next spring and construction could get underway any time after that.

Another big federal transport department job will be construction of a new Patricia Bay airport terminal and runway extensions totalling $1,500,000 and slated for completion before next summer.

Greater Victoria school construction, beginning this year and stretching over three years, will also help to keep the industry busy in the future. A money bylaw to be submitted soon could run as high as $3 million for school building.

Four large apartment blocks in the Victoria area, three of them with price tags of about $1 million and the other costing over $600,000, will be well under way by late this fall.

APARTMENT BLOCKS

Two of the million dollar blocks are going up in Victoria, one on Rockland and the other in James Bay, while the third is the Garden City block under construction in Saanich. The $600,000 apartment is a six-storey plus penthouse building planned in Oak Bay.

In addition to residential construction, several industrial projects are known to be in the negotiation stages now, while the largest single industrial installation this year, additions to the $1,500,000 Victoria Machinery Depot division on Bay Street, will be completed this fall.

MOTOR HOTEL

There is also understood to be at least one large new motor hotel under consideration in the city to add to tourist accommodation facilities.

Tourist accommodation will already be increased by better than 150 rooms with completion of the Imperial Motel soon along with the recently-opened Tally Ho Hotel.

Among other larger projects in the Victoria area now under construction or planned are:

Saanich public safety building, $250,000; Capital Improvement District Commission's Douglas Street beautification plan, $25,000; Salvation Army's Matson Lodge, $750,000; Victoria Building Co-op Labor Hall, $150,000; Oak Bay Marina, $100,000 or more; B.C. Telephone facilities and offices, $100,000 or more.

50,000-Man Hike For Armed Forces

81 RESCUED IN ALPS; AIR FORCE PROBE HELD

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—The pilot of a French jet fighter plane which sliced through the cable of an alpine aerial tramway Tuesday appeared today before an air force board of inquiry.

His plane was being examined by air force authorities. It was not known whether charges are planned against the pilot, identified only as Capt. Ziegler.

Meat Packing Combine Hit

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal anti-combines report today cited Canada Packers Limited, the country's biggest meat packing firm, as having bought out two independent companies in order to reduce competition on the Calgary and Montreal livestock markets.

The Restrictive Trade Practices Commission advised Justice Minister Fulton to seek a court order breaking up the 1955 merger of Calgary Packers Limited and Wilsil Limited of Montreal with Canada Packers or, failing that, an order preventing the Toronto-based firm from taking over other packers.

Mr. Fulton in an accompanying statement made no commitment beyond saying the "usual consideration" would be given to the commission's report, which followed allegations made by the justice department's investigators in July, 1959.

W. F. McLean, Canada Packers president, said in a statement that since company lawyers had received only one copy of the 450-page report he had not been able to study it in detail.

"I have, however, read the commission's appraisal of the evidence and its conclusions, which appear to be, as I expected, that the operations of this all-Canadian company have been in accordance with the law."

APPLIES NEW LAW

The action recommended by the commission would, if taken by the minister, make the first use of legislation passed last year under which the government can seek a court order in such cases without requiring a formal conviction and the resulting fine or imprisonment.

Doubt was expressed by the commission of the value of a formal charge against Canada Packers under the pre-1960 law.

It noted that court judgments in the Canadian Breweries and B.C. Sugar cases last year restricted the old law to virtual monopolies over the whole business—which is not the case with Canada Packers. "It does not appear to the commission that the public interest will be best served if the disappearance of independent firms in an industry already highly concentrated proceeds unchecked," today's report said.

The commission said that because of concentration in the industry and Canada Packers' "market power," the 1955 merger was "likely to lessen competition in the industry in a substantial way and so deprive the public of the benefits of the competition which otherwise would prevail."

Commons Must Give Approval

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (UPI)—Against the background of the Berlin crisis, the government will propose to Parliament when it meets next week that the ceiling on the Canadian armed forces be raised from 120,000 to 170,000, it was learned here today.

Cost of the expansion, which is the major new proposal readied by the government for next Thursday's resumed session of the House of Commons was estimated at $300,000,000.

Sources said that cabinet approved the policy during a recent absence on brief holidays of Finance Minister Fleming, whose hopes for an eventually balanced budget are directly involved in the decision.

Prevailing opinion in federal financial circles is that the additional $300,000,000 annually for the armed services automatically postpones the prospects of a balanced budget indefinitely.

Official announcement of the decision will not be made until next week's reassembly of Parliament, since Commons approval will be necessary for the proposal and for the funds to carry it into effect, sources said.

During the past two weeks the cabinet has been in almost daily session. Prime Minister Diefenbaker repeatedly told newsmen the Berlin crisis and the international situation generally have formed the main topics of consideration during these sessions.

AID FOR NATO

Diefenbaker also had indicated in general terms that Canada might increase its military contribution to NATO in light of the growing threat of the international situation.

He stopped short, however, of disclosing the extent of the contemplated expansion on grounds such details should be the subject of an announcement to Parliament.

Major importance is said to be attached by the government to its belief that its example of voluntarily increasing Canada's military expenditures beyond its present commitments will stimulate other NATO countries to more intensive efforts.

More Wheat Sold To Chinese Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale was confirmed today of 6,000,000 bushels more wheat to Red China—for shipment by the end of September from St. Lawrence River ports.

It has been reported that the wheat is bound for East Germany since Red China purchases normally take the shorter route via the west coast. (See Page 9.)

Gizengist Forces Grab UN Official

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Gizengist gendarmes arrested the UN representative at Stanleyville and released him only when Ethiopian troops threatened to use force to free him, a UN spokesman said today.

Military Leaders Defied By Brazilian Congress

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A demand by Brazil's military chiefs for a constitutional amendment blocking vice-president Joao Goulart from the presidency was flatly rejected in congress today and the nation appeared to edge closer to civil war.

Gen. Jose Machado Lopes, leader of the powerful Third Army in southern Brazil, refused an order relieving him of his command, according to radio broadcasts from Porto Alegre.

Goulart, meanwhile, departed by plane from Paris today for New York, en route to Brazil.

In Brazil, the capital, a 16-man committee representing both houses of congress, rejected a request by military leaders for a proposed constitutional amendment aimed against Goulart.

The committee announced it was entirely for Goulart and in effect challenged the military leaders to close Congress.

Former president Kubitschek said he was "very pessimistic" about the chances for avoiding civil war.

Kubitschek, now a senator, said in Brasilia that he had conferred with War Minister Odilio Denys in an effort to persuade him to lift his ban on Goulart's return but that Denys had refused.

"Once the military men get worked up it's impossible to stop them," Kubitschek said.

The ex-chief executive reiterated his support for Goulart. The order removing Lopes was believed prompted by Denys in an effort to break opposition among some segments of the armed forces to his anti-Goulart stand.

Berlin's Newest Weapon

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists stationed a man on the East Berlin frontier Tuesday with an unusual weapon, a mirror.

His job was to raise the mirror every time a photographer on the west side of the Friedrichstrasse crossing point levelled a camera and—by aligning the mirror to catch the sun's rays—try to fog the negative.

That's all he did from mid-morning through the afternoon.

81 RESCUED FROM CABLE CARS

'There Are No Words To Describe Terror'

By DEREK WILSON
CHAMONIX (Reuters)—Rescue teams today snatched the last chilled and weary passengers to safety from their teetering perch on a broken cable-car line high over a French alpine glacier.

Officials said all the stranded passengers—81 in all—had been brought to safety after a night of terror swaying in tiny aluminum cable cars 1,500 feet above the slopes of Mont Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

They were trapped there early Tuesday afternoon when a French jet plane sliced through one of the cables on the line. Six persons were killed when three of the cars plunged into the snow-covered slopes below.

Ship Fire Quelled In Puget Sound

SEATTLE (AP)—Coast Guard and private vessels battled more than five hours Monday before quelling an engine room fire aboard a refrigerator ship off Whidby Island in Puget Sound.

The 714-foot vessel, the Alaska Reefer of San Pedro, Calif., was towed to Port Townsend. The Coast Guard said there were no injuries to her 12-man crew.

Extent of damage to the vessel's cargo of salmon was not known.

The Alaska Reefer was inbound from Alaska.

Searchlights

The rescue workers toiled through the night with big searchlights playing on the cable cars and it was morning before the last stranded passenger was brought to safety.

The survivors of the freak accident could not find words to describe their fear during the night in their perilously-perched cars.

"The agony was indescribable," said Swiss survivor Emile Rieben.

"We thought the end had come. We expected to crash onto the glacier below. It looked even more horrible under the moonlight."

The plane which slashed the cable line amazingly was able to land safely after the accident. It was a U.S.-built F-84F French Air Force jet which was on a reconnaissance mission over the mountains. The plane, piloted by a Capt. Ziegler, was impounded by civil investigators.

Raced Backward

When the traction cable on the line snapped, three of the cars raced backward out of control and plummeted onto the glacier below. The six persons aboard them—four members of a German family and an Italian father and son—were killed.

Helicopters flew the survivors here and to Courmayeur, on the Italian side of the Alps. Some of them had spent almost 20 hours trapped in the cable cars.

The rescue operation was an

The Big Machine

LOOKING AT BRITISH COLUMBIA's recent electrical and political adventures with the advantage of distance, The Winnipeg Free Press concludes that Mr. Bennett has created "the strongest and richest political machine ever known in western Canada."

This undoubtedly is true. The machine may miss on one cylinder now and then but it has abundant horsepower and skilful mechanics to keep it oiled and tuned.

As The Free Press observes, "in taking over the B.C. Electric the government of British Columbia not only has embarked on a gigantic financial adventure but has executed a masterpiece of double irony. First, it adopts the policy of public ownership which it bitterly denounced less than a year ago during a provincial election as the ruinous socialism of the CCF. Second, it expropriates a company which had long supported it with generous campaign funds as the only safeguard against expropriation."

"The B.C. Electric has been a pillar of Social Credit not because it believed in that theory or liked the government but because it feared a CCF government which promised to nationalize it. All the Dandegeld paid to forestall this calamity was paid in vain. The B.C. Electric ends in the possession of the government which it upheld as the champion of free enterprise."

But the establishment of publicly-owned power—a system working well in many provinces—does not indicate, says The Free Press, the full sweep of the Bennett government. For, unlike other provincial governments, it controls the major private business under its legal jurisdiction, since the timber industry is built on the base of half a dozen forest management licences. Their holders, as The Free Press notes, are always subject to the regulation and the harassment of the government.

A Community Asset

WITH THE CLOSE OF THIS month, Archie McKinnon will leave the official occupation he has had with the YMCA for the past 41 years and enter partial retirement. He will continue his connection with the local institution through women's classes and public relations work.

Archie McKinnon — and three generations of Victorians might wonder who was meant if we called him "Mr." — has combined outstanding sports and coaching ability with dedication to youth and a heart as big as a gymnasium. The result has been a working lifetime of remarkable success in guiding young people. He has taught dubs, champions and the thousands who fall between these two classifications the rudiments as well as the fine points of athletic achievement.

Everyone Must Pay

ACCORDING TO THE TORONTO press, the Civil Service Federation of Canada, with 120,000 members, is contemplating a "quick, firm approach" to the federal government for a salary increase to offset Ontario's new sales tax. The civil servants outside Ontario, in most provinces, already are paying provincial sales taxes but if those in Ontario are to have special consideration apparently it must be applied all over the nation.

But why should Ontario civil servants, or any others, be compensated for the household cost of sales taxes while all other Canadians

"Now that the state also controls the fuel of nearly all industry, and its price," The Free Press adds, "the Bennett government possesses wide-spread indirect influence, to say the least of it, over the whole provincial economy. . . . Social Credit, in its local version, bears a paradoxical resemblance to the general policy of the socialist opposition. That fact, as vividly demonstrated by the sudden expropriation of electricity . . . deeply worries the big business interests that support and finance the government in politics. Where will Mr. Bennett strike next?"

We have no idea where he will strike next or how he proposes to develop his high-cost power scheme on the Peace River without adequate customers, Canadian or American, signed up in advance. But his political machine assuredly is in good order.

While the B.C. Electric can no longer provide campaign funds, its far-reaching ramifications and its construction contracts should provide ample alternative sources.

No doubt, too, with the windfall of the company's tax reserves, and the elimination of federal corporation taxes, Mr. Bennett will order a cut in electrical rates before the next provincial election, or perhaps even before next year's federal election, and this will help to disguise, for the time being anyway, the incalculable future costs of the Peace scheme.

Mr. Bennett has planted his reliable friends in the B.C. Electric management, with Dr. Shrum as titular boss and the ubiquitous Mr. Gunderson as the experienced go-between. All of which means, in fact, that Mr. Bennett will personally run the electrical empire to suit himself.

The machine, as The Free Press says, has plenty of power, no visible brakes, fast drivers, but how much mileage?

ments as well as the fine points of athletic achievement.

That is a career of which anyone could be proud. But Archie has done much more. His athletic, coaching and training services have been the skeleton on which he hung the real flesh and blood of his career. For it has been in the capacity of mentor, adviser, confidant, professor, encourager and good example that Archie has done his greatest job with thousands of local boys.

This community has been fortunate to have Archie McKinnon through the years. It is fortunate still to have him; and his many, many friends in all circles will wish him long and happy years of retirement—with the hope that it remains only partial.

(who pay the civil servants' salaries) receive no such benefits? Are civil servants to be placed in a special category, free of sales taxes levied on everybody else?

The whole basis of the civil servants' appeal is patently absurd. If they are entitled to salary increases they can justly claim them, and should get them, on the ground that they are not paid enough. They cannot claim them on the ground that they are different from other Canadians who have to pay sales taxes which are levied, in great part, to provide salaries for an ever-increasing civil service.

East Berlin: An Absence of City Life and Living, and at Night an Even Sadder Face

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN, From Berlin

WEST BERLIN is a city in a vice. No one has any doubts that the vice will be tightened bit by bit, and that the government of East Germany desires only its death.

The ways between the two cities that used to be 80 have been reduced to four. West Berliners must obtain visas to cross. There is only one way left open for foreigners. The telephone has been restored, but for how long? The railway, the road, the canal, the air corridor that link this outpost with the West are all as vulnerable as flower stalks.

It is not surprising that the most insistent calls for positive action by the West are being made from Berlin—even though Berlin's vulnerability is absolute. There are a few thousand foreign troops here; if they fight they could again reduce the city to rubble—they could not save it.

Yet a normality prevails here. In the Western city you see no sign of strain or emergency. Conversation is not all about the enemy at the gate. You can feel more threatened in Johannesburg than in West Berlin.

It is not exactly courage, but familiarity and resignation that rule this city. And most West Berliners have not yet even caught a glimpse of the crude Ulbricht Wall that so equally divides them from the Easters.

A great deal of the American and Allied effort in Berlin is designed to keep fear away, and to prevent any despairing evacuation of the city. Hence the sudden appearance of a company of British troops at the Brandenburg Gate last week, and of huge U.S. tanks at other points along the Ulbricht Wall.

By the East Berliners it was accepted as provocation, by the West as reassurance. Except as a gesture, it was meaningless.

Stalinalee

The East Berliners are a curious phenomenon in international affairs. For all intents and purposes they have been integrated into East Germany, and yet the legal fiction of their separate identity is still maintained.

No one for a moment doubts that a free vote would bring them decisively over to the West. No one believes that they or the government of East Germany have any real initiative given them in international affairs.

Despised and disliked by the Russians, they do what they are told. Yet they and their soldiers, militia, police and youth corps must go through the movements of expressing an indignant and energetic sovereignty.

So last week, while the Americans and British were demonstrating on their side of the Ulbricht Wall, the East Berliners were being summoned to demonstrate their gratitude to the factory militia in the Stalinalee.

The Stalinalee is that vast procession of running between towering apartment blocks which the Russians designed for the Germans. In its style it comes close to those obscure municipal baths that conscience-stricken councils built for the poor of England about 60 years ago. In size it challenges the great avenues of New York.

In execution it is simply not safe. The white-glazed tiles are peeling like a disease off its facade. Its plaster is cracked, its lifts stick, and already it is beginning to look like something that managed to survive the war.

The factory militia, about a brigade of them, were drawn up before a rostrum and a flurry of red flags. Some were in lorries with machine-guns, and there were armored cars.

These are not the real East German troops, but a part-time militia and no more impressive than any of their sort.

Herr Ulbricht came in a fawn raincoat and greeted them with something between a blessing and a salute. He told them that the air was cleaner now, that the Western militarists and revenge-seekers had been driven out of their city. He also hailed August 13—the day they closed the frontier—as a sort of new holy day in the Communist calendar. And then the brigade marched away, up the Allee.

The crowds that watched them were thin, and in places the pavements were bare. People were adequately dressed and well fed. You could deduce nothing from their faces.

There were comfortable mums and middle-aged women who had not given up the fight to be smart. There were excited children, and there were warty teenagers in the world-wide uniform of their group. But there were almost no soldiers in the street as there were in the past, and the applause was a spatter of clapping.

In contrast, the U.S. convoys that had driven into West Berlin earlier in the week had been received—to their bewilderment—like liberating troops.

Whole districts still have windows with makeshift glass in them, with the plaster facade fallen away to reveal the rough brick, and they still look and smell as if the war were only a year or so ago. Others seem almost untouched, with green trees and brightly-painted shops. But even here there is an absence of city bustle of life and living.

East Berlin at night shows an even sadder face. Show your passport to the guards and you walk through the barrier into a different world. Here the streets are dark and almost still. There are policemen, and there are drunks—not jolly, elated drunks, but reeling, mumbling men, fighting a lonely road home and far too many of them to be a coincidence.

There are still bars open. None of them seem to have been touched or painted since the war. They are infinitely depressing, like that shop in Orwell's "1984" that sold synthetic gin to defeated intellectuals.

There are usually half-a-dozen people drinking. They eye a stranger with covert curiosity. They are willing to talk, though not about anything very serious. They say they are sorry they did not move over in time. They seem a pitiable rather than hostile or dangerous people. But such generalizations are not safe.

On Sunday I went to mass in the Eastern Zone. It presented no problem. The church was large and ugly, and

Relaxation

If you walk about East Berlin today you will find little that is really abnormal. There are acres of empty spaces where the bombs fell. Most of the churches are still in ruins. Traffic is thin. Armed police are frequent. Some of the splendours of the Royal Prussian rule have been exquisitely restored and their imperial and classical details, their crowns, trophies and elegant colonnades could dignify the sovereignty of any state.

Probing for Secrets

A SIGN of the times is the new British government regulation that henceforth employees may go only to psychiatrists who have been cleared by the government. The idea is that the man on the couch is liable to blab too much in the course of having his id or his psyche or his subconscious probed, examined and relieved of its problems.

It will be news to the man in the street, of course, that foreign office folk are in the habit of consulting psychiatrists—at least to a point and in numbers requiring a governmental regulation. But it is very easy to see how a clever spy, in the guise of a professional analyst, might draw important secrets from his foreign office patients.

Imagine the scene. Ronald Featherwhite-Cholmondeley, for the past few years an assistant deputy under-secretary in the foreign office, has been having a little trouble lately. Can't seem to sleep very well, y' know, dash it all . . . seem to have a weight pressing on my brain all the time . . . wretched sort of thing, actually . . . thought praps one of you psychiatry johnnies might be able to do something . . . been reading about you, don'techknow.

The eminent Harley Street analyst, Dr. John Smith, who, before he shaved off the upper part of his beard and left Leningrad ten years ago was known as Secret Agent Vladimir Froydovitch, or, more commonly, merely No. 37, smiles slightly to himself.

And So to Work

He makes his patient more comfortable on the couch and mutters soothing phrases. Here is a rich prize indeed. For a moment No. 37 sees himself on the roof of the tomb in Red Square, the members of the Politburo grouped around him as the cheers of the thousands ring in his ears. . . . and so, Comrade, we confer upon you for your services to the state the esteemed Order of . . .

The man on the couch stirs impatiently, and Dr. Smith returns to present realities with a jerk. He takes up his notebook.

"You complain of a pressure on your head?" he prompts.

"Yes. Here and here and here, but mainly here."

"Ah. It sometimes happens that one's brain becomes supercharged with secrets and these create a tension within. Have you . . ."

"No, no," mutters the patient. "Probably eyestrain or something of that sort . . ."

"Yes, of course. I suppose your eyes are subject to exacting work? Examining plans, important documents, that sort of thing?"

"Well, I suppose to a certain extent . . ."

As Our Readers See It

'A Good Man'

A host of Victorians, with many and varied interests, feel deep regret this month at the untimely passing of a good citizen, William H. Dunbar.

Bill Dunbar, as he was popularly known, was quietly prominent in the business and financial community, and a sportsman in the finest tradition. Apart from his business activities which he pursued for many years, his main interests were participation in, and promotion of, equestrian and racquet sports.

In both these fields he leaves countless admirers for his unstinted giving of himself in the interests of his fellow sportsmen, and especially in the interests of the young people whom he attracted and encouraged to these forms of recreation.

Bill Dunbar would not have invited a eulogy. He sought neither accolade nor high office, but preferred to pursue his objectives quietly and unobtrusively.

A good man has passed, and left an enduring mark in the minds of many in the capital city.

Messy and Smelly

Thank you for your letter, "Disgusted."

I thought I was fighting a lone battle with the smoke, cinder nuisance, and I too have been trying to do some house painting only to have it messed up by cinders.

I wonder how those responsible, who dump their smoke and cinders on us, would like it if we were to dump our garbage and rubbish on their homes and properties?

Of course this would never do. After all, industry must go on. They would soon have the authorities after us and needless to say, mighty fast action would be taken against us.

Smoke and cinders can be just as messy and smelly as rubbish and garbage, however we in the industrial area must put up with it and allow them to keep dumping smoke and cinders on us even in this modern day and age.

Perhaps 25 years from now real action may be taken. In the meantime let us keep fighting for our rights and protection or have we none, re industrial nuisances?

Please let it be remembered many of us do not live in the area by choice, but because of circumstances, but apart from this surely people should be given some consideration.

For Amalgamation

I will be pleased should you find space in your paper for the views of a Saanich resident and property owner on the matter of amalgamation with Victoria city.

Apparently an article covering this matter appeared under the heading: Amalgamation—by B.C. Order.

At the outset I am of the opinion that the reeves of the several municipalities should talk for themselves, and not voice opinions that the people of any municipal district, do not want amalgamation.

Apparently Coun. Stanley Murphy, myself and many of my friends are in favor of amalgamation and we think our votes would carry as much weight as any other.

An order by Premier Bennett would seem to be the only reasonable solution to the problem. This would allow employment of an efficient city manager.

Mayor Scuriah says there is no further room for growth in the city, except upon the erection of high-rise buildings. It is deplorable to think that Victoria should be allowed to reach this condition, by any level of government.

It has been experienced by all growing operations, that the more compact they are kept, the less the operational cost. This has my interest. I am in favor of amalgamation and the appointment of efficient, qualified men to carry out the duties which may be imposed upon them by the present fast moving times.

Let's Go Fishing

A great leader of mankind (perhaps tired with the dust of the land and crowds) once said to his followers—LET US GO FISHING.

There is something wrong with us, especially a young male if he never has had that thrill: a taut line, a bent rod, something down deep snapping at the hooked bait, then bringing to the surface a real live wriggling fish, even if it is only a tiny perch. It matters not how big, if only we catch a fish.

Next year will be Seattle's big celebration. This island is in line for a multitude of their visitors. Let us make fishing a real attraction for all ages—men, women and children.

Stock from the government hatcheries, selected locations supervised, where we all can fish to our hearts content for our own, visitors' and children's happiness.

Increased Duties

An able contributor to your esteemed paper is Mr. Max Freedman, a Canadian journalist stationed in Washington. He has shown himself over the years to be an acute observer of the world scene. He is not one who is "brainwashed" very easily. Certainly, his analyses of past crisis, such as his dispatches at the time of the Suez troubles in '56, did credit to his integrity and to his profession. His opinions are well worth noting.

Apologies the Berlin crisis, Mr. Freedman wrote on Aug. 28:

"In the task of safeguarding the peace and freedom of West Berlin, there are increased duties that will fall on the German people themselves, and on the allies, as well as on the American nation. There are risks to be shared, and obligations to be fulfilled, and burdens to be carried, and duties to be discharged by everyone in this united defence of freedom's dauntless yet endangered cause."

A great many people in this country would endorse this statement. They would be glad to assume the burdens and to discharge the duties of the defence of liberty at this vital hour.

Too Many Skeletons

I have followed your excellent articles on the B.C. Electric takeover with great interest and feel you have demonstrated why there must never be state ownership of the press.

It is perhaps unfortunate that you have laid too little emphasis on the fact that state ownership of anything is dangerous at any time. Some of your articles have implied, though I do not suppose you meant it entirely, that fair treatment of the shareholders would make everything rosy.

One of the worst features of this "creeping socialism" is the erosion of the various devices to limit the power of the state. Elections at regular intervals are not sufficient for this purpose when financial and commercial powers are assumed by an authority over which there is no control.

Laws can be made to control the operations of the B.C. Electric as it was or companies like it, but it seems rather unlikely that Mr. Bennett will introduce statutes to limit his own activities.

I agree with The Financial Post which contends there is public apathy. The shareholders may be making some outcry but the majority have been "bought off" by dreams of cheap power, which you aptly suggest may be a dream indeed. There may be also a small but very important minority whose investment in the north country requires protection.

There is also the fact that B.C.'s self-liquidating debt is not being liquidated; there are, in short, too many skeletons in Mr. Bennett's cupboard to make anyone feel content that we have to pick up the cheque for him.

Diagnosis With a Glance

The really able physician often can diagnose correctly with a glance at the patient or with the help of the answers to a few questions. An experienced children's specialist will tell at a glance whether a child is healthy or whether he is feeble-minded, or dangerously ill, or perhaps mentally disturbed, or coming down with an attack of polio.

The educated layman today thinks that the ablest doctor is the one who orders the most tests, but he could not be more wrong. Today, millions of dollars are being constantly wasted because hospital interns order tests without any thought as to what these tests can possibly do in the way of making a diagnosis. For instance, an intern will order a measurement of the basal metabolic rate and the protein-bound iodine.

If I see him doing this, I will ask, "Why did you order that?"

And he may say, "I suppose to test her thyroid gland."

I will say, "Look, this girl is keen and wide-awake and she is a secretary to a big lawyer. Hence she cannot be hypothyroid. If she were, she would be dull and unable to do her work."

Then I reach over and feel her hand, and I find the skin cooler than mine. If she were hyperthyroid her skin would be warm. Obviously then, if she cannot be hypothyroid and she isn't hyperthyroid, she must be normal and so why order two expensive tests?

I received a sad letter from a woman who says that when her baby was born her obstetrician said, "I am terribly sorry, but I think this child is a mongoloid." Today, years later, the child cannot walk or talk, and he shows other signs of being decidedly retarded mentally. A while ago, when the mother wrote that she could not accept the local doctor's diagnosis, I suggested she go to the state medical school and see the professor of pediatrics. She did; but now she complains that the famous man just glanced at the child and said, "Sure, he is a mongoloid"; and then went on to see his next patient.

I greatly admire the man for his ability, and his honesty in not wanting to waste the parents' money; I don't admire the way in which he dismissed them without spending some time showing them the several things he saw which satisfied him that the child was mongoloid and not curable. As it is, they now think they were treated shabbily; they expected the professor to examine the child for a week with all sorts of tests. They had no way of knowing how much he saw as the child lay naked on his table.

What did he see? That the child, perhaps, had a rather small, flatish head, with a broad face, high cheek bones, perhaps Chinese-like slanting eyes, with a narrow slit between the lids; perhaps thickish lips with the corners of the mouth drawn down; perhaps the lower jaw a bit over-size, the tongue big and fissured, the skin soft and loose, the little fingers perhaps short and curved inward; perhaps a strange crease across the palm; the spaces between the first two toes abnormally wide; the genitalia small, and the muscles a bit flabby.

Any pediatrician worth his salt will sense instantly that such a child's intelligence is subnormal. He may find it hard to tell his students how he knows this, but he does.

This sort of clairvoyance any good physician ought to possess. Hundreds of times at Mayo's I have found it hard to explain to my assistants just why I was sure that a particular patient had had a "little" stroke. One patient I recall was the executive vice-president of a big company. His face was dull; his answers to my questions were slow and dull; he was not well-shaved; and his coat had a food stain on it. Obviously, a once-keen brain had been seriously injured, and the commonest cause for that, especially when the change comes suddenly to a man past 55, is a little stroke.

I will never forget a day when I had tried for half an hour without any success to convince a fussy, neurotic woman that, after talking to her, I knew all I needed to know about her menopausal depression. She practically demanded that I send her for some $300 worth of tests and x-ray studies. I felt no need for such tests and none of them would have shown up the fact that her main trouble was that she was suffering from a melancholia, like that of her mother and her aunt before her. Especially because, two months before, dozens of tests had been made in a big university hospital and had shown nothing, I refused to make her husband pay for repeating all such work.

Then, happening to note on the history sheet that this husband was a retired floor-walker in a great department store, I asked him if, at a glance, he could tell much about a woman shopper. He said, of course, he could. For 35 years that had been a large part of his business. Often he had to tell at a glance whether or not to OK a woman's cheque, or let her take home some charged merchandise; and he was seldom wrong. He went on to say that when he saw that my mind worked just as his did, and that I had his wife sized-up in three minutes, he was perfectly willing to accept my opinion in regard to her illness. He didn't want any tests.

France Backs Compromise On Berlin Negotiations

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The Western allies have reached agreement on the problem of opening the door to East-West negotiations on Berlin and Germany.

The solution met French objections to a direct Allied initiative—which President Charles de Gaulle viewed as a sign of weakness in the face of Soviet threats—while displaying Western willingness to take the crisis to the conference table.

Proposals for a Western foreign ministers' meeting, quiet diplomacy in Moscow and the United Nations, and the first formal East-West contracts in the near future were involved in the complicated pattern now taking shape.

The probable timetable of events appeared to diplomatic observers to be as follows:

1. Western notes were expected to be sent to Moscow today replying to the communications in which the Soviet Union on Aug. 3 outlined its position on Berlin and Germany.

The belief was that the notes

BERLIN (AP)—An East German swimmer to freedom today across the Teltow Canal under a hail of bullets from Communist border guards. He climbed out on the west bank of the canal unhurt.

West Berlin police said they heard bullets whipping into the canal, whose centre marks the sector border, about 6.45 a.m. Five minutes later the dripping man clambered up the west bank to freedom.

During the last week Communist troops have killed two men trying to swim the 60 yards across the canal, which forms part of the border in this divided city. Berliners now call it the "death canal."

Police reported Communist guards elsewhere on the border flung tear gas grenades and fired water cannon Tuesday night at about 60 persons gathered at Alexandrinstrasse, in Kreuzberg in the American sector. Shortly after midnight the Communists opened up again when a group of Western youths started catcalling.

About 5 a.m. a Communist water cannon at Treptowerstrasse suddenly let fly at a police patrol car on the Western side.

President Heinrich Lübke of West Germany cut short a vacation to come to Berlin for a look at the situation. He arrived Tuesday night.

Lübke's visit was attacked by the East German official news agency ADN as "provocative activity." The commentary said West Berlin was "not within the competence of Bonn politicians."

In a radio speech Tuesday night, Mayor Willy Brandt, rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's suggestion that Soviet troops join the U.S., British and French in a token garrisoning of the city. Brandt said the idea is unacceptable to the people of Berlin and the Western powers.

Brandt, also tangled with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in election debate on Berlin. Adenauer charged in a campaign speech that the Berlin crisis was created by the Soviet Union to help Brandt, candidate of the Social Democratic party.

Adenauer's charge drew boos in Hagen and Gelsenkirchen. When he made it at Recklinghausen, he added that "it is absolutely out of the question" that Brandt's party shared any responsibility for the crisis.

Brandt, speaking at Erlangen, commented: "The old gentleman doesn't quite grasp the situation any more."

Early Is Word for Wallflowers

Every year thousands of wallflower seedlings are grown in Victoria, but not too often do we see sturdy plants covered with flowers in spring.

I think part of the trouble is that the seedlings are not planted out early enough from the flats.

By the end of August they should be in rows in the best soil of the vegetable garden, growing into stocky, bushy plants.

Some years it is difficult to get the bulb beds ready before October, and it is usually among the spring bulbs that we like to plant the wallflowers. They can be transplanted from the rows with good balls of soil, and the bulbs put in later as time and weather permits.

If the wallflowers are left in flats until October they will become woody and hard to re-establish. The ideal way is to plant them temporarily in a row, and treat them like winter cabbage. Indeed, because they are so closely related to the cabbages, they like the same soil and treatment—that is, lime and firm planting.

Should it be necessary to purchase the plants out of flats, get them as soon as they become available, and plant them out at once as here advised.

Sometimes field-grown plants may be obtained, and these are always worth the extra money since they have had the extra space to grow in, and there will seldom be any losses. The perfume and rich coloring of wallflowers make them highly desirable for spring decoration.

New Canadian Cargo Plane Impresses U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Flying Tiger Line showed off its new "swingtail" Canadair 44 this week to highly impressed government and military officials.

The giant plane, which has a unique feature in a hinged-tail section that swings open to facilitate loading, is the world's first turbo-prop air freighter and the biggest commercial cargo plane ever built.

The 44 is manufactured by Canadair, Montreal subsidiary of the General Dynamics Corp. Flying Tiger bought 10 of the big four-engine planes at a cost of $55,000,000. It can haul a 65,000-pound payload at 400 miles an hour and the 10-plane Tiger fleet will be capable of carrying more freight in one year than all U.S. airlines hauled last year.

The Canadian government supplied more than $100,000,000 to develop the 44. The plane is a drastically-modified version of the British-made Britannia airliner. It is 17 feet longer than the passenger-carrying model, much heavier and has a new nose section to incorporate cockpit visibility requirements of the Federal Aviation Agency.

UAW Agrees to Extend Wage Talks

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union picked General Motors Tuesday night

Canada on Road To Recovery Says CMA Chief

TORONTO (CP)—Various economic and financial measures taken by Ottawa have undoubtedly helped put Canada on the road to recovery from the recession, F. D. Mathers, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said Tuesday.

He told a directors' luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition that evidence appears for some months points "unmistakably to another period of economic advance here as in the United States which as always, has such a potent influence on domestic business conditions."

It would be "churlish" of Canadian business not to commend Ottawa for its steps in helping the recovery, he said.

Over the past couple of years we have had a whole series of measures, major as well as minor, designed to stimulate manufacturing and minimize some of the disadvantages under which it has been expected to compete both at home and abroad.

This was a marked change from other years when Canadian manufacturing was looked on as a "convenient milch cow for the coffers of the federal treasury."

as its strike target but bowed to a last-minute governmental appeal and promised to extend current contract talks until 11 a.m. Sept. 6.

UAW president Walter Reuther said contracts at Ford and Chrysler could be continued on a day-to-day basis beyond Sept. 6 if necessary, but added: "We are unwilling to extend the General Motors contract one hour beyond the new deadline."

He told a press conference that only an unprecedented request late Tuesday by the federal mediation and conciliation service had caused the union to grant GM an extension beyond the contract expiration of midnight Thursday.

William E. Simkin, director of the independent government agency, made identical requests to the three auto companies and to the union to extend the deadline one week.

ACCEPT EXTENSION

A spokesman for General Motors, the world's largest auto manufacturer, said the firm had no immediate comment on being chosen as strike target. However, the spokesman said GM was advising Simkin "that we are willing to accept his suggestion to agree with the UAW to extend our agreement until Sept. 6, 1961."

Reuther praised the agreement reached last Saturday with American Motors which included a profit-sharing plan for union employees.

Norman Matthews, UAW director for both Chrysler and American Motors, told the Chrysler national UAW council Tuesday night that the union will now press General Motors in the direction of a profit-sharing program.

All of the big three vigorously oppose profit sharing. Simkin said his request for an extension was initiated by his agency and not by either President Kennedy or Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg. "We do not consider this interference in collective bargaining," Simkin said. "This is not to be construed as governmental intervention."

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, called the session to decide on strike strategy. Speculation centered on General Motors — the giant of the big three — as the No. 1 strike target.

FORD CHIEF PREDICTS BOOMING 1962 SALES

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Sales of 1962 model cars will top the 6.5 million mark, Ford Motor Co. president John Dykstra predicted Tuesday.

Dykstra was here to attend a district dealers' meeting where 1962 models were previewed.

He said 1962 will be a good year, but not quite as booming as 1955 and 1957. He said the new intermediate size autos do not necessarily mean a trend towards larger compact models or still smaller standard-sized cars. He said the intermediates will fill a gap somewhere between the compacts and standards.

French Oil Stocks Suffer Big Decline

PARIS (Reuters) — Heavy declines were recorded Tuesday on the Paris stock exchange among French oil companies with North African shares, reflecting uncertainties after the replacement of moderate Ferhat Abbas as premier of the "Algerian provisional government."

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that the number of turkeys on Canadian farms at Aug. 1 was 36 per cent higher than a year earlier.

It estimated total 1961 production at 11,054,000 turkeys, up one-third from the 1960 figure.

BCE Bond Offer Revised

Premier Bennett Tuesday announced a concession to preferred shareholders in the old B.C. Electric company, following a mounting tide of criticism across Canada of the terms of his takeover of the huge firm as a public utility.

These shareholders will be offered the choice of either perpetual government bonds in the public company, or 25-year term bonds at exactly the same value and interest, he said.

Originally, when the takeover was announced to the legislature, Mr. Bennett proposed to give the preferred shareholders only the perpetual securities.

This would have meant loss of a 20 per cent income tax credit to shareholders and no assurance of ever returning full investment value.

FULL YEAR
The bonds would have been callable at the government's discretion.

Now the new bondholders will have a full year in which to exercise an option on the 25-year deal.

At the end of the 25 years, the government will call in the bonds.

Each type of bond will have full government guarantee, said the premier.

They are being printed now and will be issued shortly.

The premier conceded this increases B.C.'s contingent liabilities "quite a bit."

In fact he admitted in the August session of the legislature that the move will double the present total of $6,000,000.

Mr. Bennett called his new offer "a double bond."

It will mean a better market for the B.C. Electric bonds when they are again listed on the stock market, he said. Trading was suspended after Aug. 1 when the government takeover was announced.

Any holder will be allowed to make the exchange of perpetual for term bonds up to next Aug. 1, he said. This allows for considerable trading before the deadline.

"It will answer any criticism that might exist there," he said confidently.

Premier Sceptical Of Rate Cut

Premier Bennett Tuesday scoffed at reports the B.C. Electric Company planned rate reductions just before it was taken over by the government.

The report came Tuesday from A. Bruce Robertson, new chairman of B.C. Power Corp., and formerly a B.C. Electric vice-president. He said a 10 per cent residential and 5 per cent commercial cut was planned for 1962. It would have cost $3,500,000 in annual revenues he said.

"I'll be looking for the report of their minutes to see if that's in there," said Mr. Bennett with a laugh.

"It's amazing with all this discussion they didn't announce it before now."

SOME INCREASES

However, Mr. Bennett did not concede that since the takeover there has been an increase in rates for some big industrial power customers, among them MacMillan-Bloedel-Powell River-lumber company.

"That speaks for itself," said the premier. Anyway, he added, these increases had been arranged before the takeover, when the company was still privately owned.

Mr. Bennett said he still hopes for future power rate reductions, but won't make any promises. The rates, he said, would not become "a political tool."

New Wheat Sales Under Discussion

REGINA (CP) — Federal Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton confirmed Tuesday that a further sale of Canadian wheat to the Communist Chinese has been negotiated.

Mr. Hamilton said in an interview the reported 6,000,000-bushel figure was "fairly accurate."

He was to make an official announcement on details of the sale today at Kenosha Lake, Sask.

The agriculture minister said Ottawa also has negotiations under way for wheat sales to other Communist nations and "at least one" Latin-American country.

He declined to name the countries or the amount of wheat involved.

Ottawa sources said the order will be shipped shortly from St. Lawrence Seaway ports. Whether it will be sent to China directly or to an East European country will be known until the ship is booked.

Red China made two purchases, one small, worth $64,000,000 in wheat, wheat flour and barley before signing a 2½-year general agreement under which Canada would provide 186,700,000 bushels of barley.

The Chinese bought another $60,000,000 worth under this agreement and a further large order is expected to be placed after a visit next month of Chinese grain and trade delegates. They will meet Mr. Hamilton in Ottawa Sept. 18.

Bar Group to Discuss B.C. Electric Takeover

WINNIPEG (CP)—A resolution deploring the taking over of the B.C. Electric Company by the British Columbia government was tabled at the opening session of the Canadian Bar Association meeting

Conciliator On Electric Dispute

Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin has been appointed in a three-man dispute between 200 electrical workers and 22 Vancouver Island contractors.

Members of Local 230 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers are seeking a single contract for the whole of Vancouver Island as the main point in an agreement.

Work on the island now is governed by two contracts, one for Greater Victoria, and one for the area north of Cowichan River.

But various rate scales come into effect, depending upon the type of work being done.

Electricians want the single contract without taking a wage cut in either area.

The standard up-island rate stands at $3.10, with a 25-cent differential for heavy construction. This is as much as 35 cents an hour more than comparative rates here.

Tuesday and is expected to come up for discussion Friday.

The resolution, the only one tabled at the meeting, was introduced by Hugh C. Murray of Vancouver, a delegate to the convention.

The resolution urges that the Canadian Bar Association reaffirm its principle "that no property rights should be compulsorily acquired without provision for full and fair compensation to be determined by an impartial tribunal that will preserve to the owner of the property to be taken a safeguard of due process of law including the right of judicial review."

It also urged in the resolution that the association go on record as regretting "any extension to a Crown-owned corporation engaged in a commercial enterprise of the principle of immunity of the Crown from suit and the restriction of the right of the subject to full and free access to the courts."

The association is asked to empower its executive to make representation to the government of British Columbia with respect to "deprivation of civil liberties and property rights."

LIONS RATE 'REWARD' FOR FINE PERFORMANCE

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Lions coach Wayne Robinson has refunded the $100 fines levied on some 19 players in Ottawa as a reward for their great effort against Edmonton Eskimos Monday night, in which Eskies barely squeaked by, 21-20.

A Vancouver newspaper also said the players, who now have 12 days before their next game, have been given four days off by Robinson to avert a fatigue point among the club members.

The fines were levied by Robinson in Ottawa against players he found staying out beyond the night curfew hour following a football shellacking by the Rough Riders.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The home run record of Babe Ruth is in jeopardy. But his myth is permanent. It will exist as long as baseball is played. There is only one. There will not be another like him. It is a matter of style.

There can't be a second Babe Ruth. It is like expecting some one to be Valentino or Garbo. They are incandescent people in an everlasting solar system. They are remembered in their glorious prime, as if they had no beginnings and no ends. Their personalities complemented their techniques and transcended them.

It should be noticed that Roger Maris, who last week struck his 51st, and Mickey Mantle, with 46, are only attempting to hit as many home runs as Ruth. They aren't trying to deface his memory. But I find animosity in people of Ruth's age.

It is as though Maris and Mantle were not entitled to challenge Ruth's achievement. This is a mean and silly theory. It is similar to resenting a tenor for singing one of Caruso's parts. The operas were not buried with Caruso. They didn't padlock the parks when Ruth died, although he perpetuated the game with his skills as it drifted toward disgraced obscurity after the Black Sox scandal.

In this country we cherish as symbols of certain times those who excel at games. We are a glad people fascinated by thrilling nonsense. In other lands, the soldier seizes the imaginations of the people.

Here multitudes collect for joyous reasons. They buy tickets to see Mantle and Maris, as they once filled stadia for Ruth. They are not assembled by government fiat and they don't congregate for reasons of hate.

Men who were young when Ruth was cherish him in reverie. He was proof of the virility of their generation, a guarantee their age lacks respect. But he was a ball player and so are Maris and Mantle. I grant Ruth no privileges on the field, no more than the umpires did when he was a player. If Mantle and Maris are able to hit 61 home runs, I want them to. Such competition is the only reason for baseball.

The 'twenties belong to Ruth and Dempsey. They have no stake in the 'sixties. Men turn back in retrospect and look upon them with pride. They are the trophies of their contemporaries' youth.

My elders tell me Dempsey didn't have the skills of either Benny Leonard or Harry Greb. Some insist Ruth was just a wonderful freak and Ty Cobb and Hans Wagner were greater players. But it is Dempsey and Ruth who survive in the literature and small talk of nostalgia. They made the others dwarfs with the alchemy of their personalities.

What a compliment it is to Ruth, 13 years dead this month, that his acts are being reported as if he were still squatting in the on-deck circle. If he didn't hit the 60 home runs this wouldn't be possible. But it is the affection for him that keeps him a celebrity. It would still be this way if Hank Greenberg or Jimmy Fox had hit 61.

Neither Maris or Mantle are flamboyant guys. They demand private lives. But Ruth held no secrets. He never seemed to leave the ball park. It was as if he had an apartment at Yankee Stadium and all that happened to him occurred there.

He was a dramatic man and also a comical one. Maris is reserved but articulate, brusque and often candid about topics other ball players avoid.

Always Mantle, who is truly shy, has seemed a stranger in New York. But his furious dignity as a ball player has never been appreciated. He plays on crippled legs and never complains about the incessant pain. He is seized by rages when he strikes out and demonstrates by flinging the bat or his helmet. But, although Mantle has a sense of humor, baseball, as he plays it, is a serious matter. The sport is also an exercise in solemnity for Maris.

The game was fun for Ruth. The people shared his good times. There seemed to be no barrier between the stands and the field. But his humor had majesty undetected. In any other athlete. He was always Babe Ruth, and he seemed to be walking ahead of a band no matter where he went.

His fame is safe. He will be Babe Ruth forever no matter how many home runs Maris and Mantle hit. The 60 are only part of the legend.

BIKE RACES SCHEDULED ON SATURDAY

Leading riders from Vancouver are expected to be among those competing when the Victoria Cycling Club stages its annual Labor Day weekend bicycle races in Beacon Hill Park, Saturday.

There will be senior and junior men's events as well as an open women's race. Program begins at 2.30 p.m.

FOREST HILLS (AP)—Davis Cup star Dennis Ralston is back in the doghouse with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

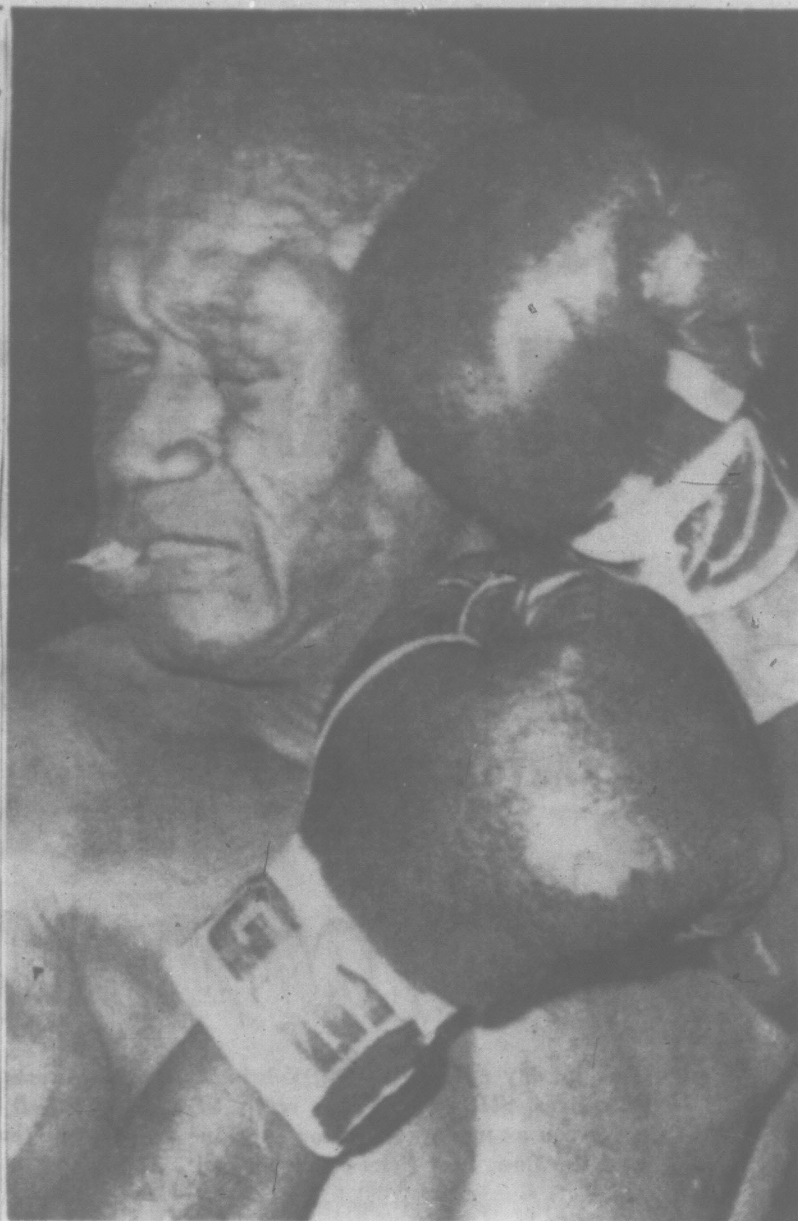

He was suspended by the USLTA Tuesday for "bad conduct" and became ineligible for the U.S. championships starting here Friday.

George Barnes, president of the USLTA, issued a statement mentioning Ralston's antics in the Davis Cup American zone final against Mexico in Cleveland two weeks ago as the primary cause of the suspension. Ralston, 19, already had been placed on a year's probation for acting up in Australia last year.

Barnes did not place a time limit on the suspension. This led some observers to believe that when Ralston appears for a hearing Sept. 8 his banishment from the U.S. championships may be considered sufficient punishment.

"After all," said one official, "getting to the Davis Cup challenge round means about $25,000 to the USLTA. If Ralston is needed to help us get there, I can't see them making the suspension stick."

Barnes' statement said "the USLTA will no longer tolerate in domestic or international play incidents of racketeering, ball-kicking or profanity." It did not mention the specific violations charged to Ralston, ranked No. 3 in the U.S. Australia defeated the U.S. for the Davis Cup last year.

Life has its hard knocks, as Seattle boxer Eddie Cotton found out Tuesday when he ran up against world light-heavyweight champion Harold

JOHNSON DECISIONS EDDIE COTTON

It Was Fast and Fancy ...

SEATTLE (UPI)—Light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson, finishing strongly against nearly-blinded challenger Eddie Cotton, won a split 15-round decision Tuesday night in defence of his National Boxing Association crown.

Cotton, a 1-2 underdog, put up a surprisingly strong show but just didn't have the guns to withstand the sledge-hammer blows of the champion. A big knot appeared over Cotton's left eye in the sixth and seventh rounds, and in the eighth, he started to bleed from his right eyelid. By the end of the fight, the swelling had completely closed his left eye.

There were no knockdowns. However, the pace was fast and the boxing clever. Fans loved it and there wasn't a boo all night.

A disappointing crowd of about 4,000 watched the battle—Seattle's first title bout in four years.

Referee Jimmy Rondonau scored it 147-145 and judge Dr. Norman Kunde 147-145 for the champion. Judge Sam Heller had it 148-144 for Cotton.

Yanks Appreciate Walker But Larry Turns Down Bid

Larry Walker might be considered an oddity among baseball players.

He turned down a New York Yankees contract.

Rated by the American League club as "best prospect in British Columbia", Walker refuses to consider a pro career at the moment.

But that doesn't stop him from playing baseball.

He will be in the lineup for Maple Ridge when the Mainland squad plays in the British Columbia senior baseball championships at Royal Athletic Park over the Labor Day weekend.

As might be expected, Walker can do just about everything well. He pitches, plays first and in the outfield, and bats at a .435 clip in addition to leading his league in runs batted in.

But, despite this, he has to keep moving to stay ahead of teammate Rae Fujikawa, who is hitting a lousy .425 and who won the league home run title.

All this spells trouble for Victoria, who have been drawn against the Lower Mainland squad in their first game Saturday at 6 p.m.

Kelowna and Terrace will kick off the tournament with an afternoon game starting at 2 o'clock.

Two games will also be played Sunday at the same times. There will be three games Monday, at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Tournament officials are looking forward to the affair with anticipation, to say the least. They know that the best teams from the four British Columbia areas are entered.

Out-of-town teams are scheduled to arrive Friday night.

Top-Rated Netter Beaten in Final

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Victoria Palmer, a 16-year-old from Phoenix, won the U.S. girls' lawn tennis singles championship Tuesday, defeating top-ranked Billie Jean Moffitt, 17, of Long Beach, Calif., 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.

The doubles title was won by Miss Palmer and Judy Alvarez of Yorba City, Fla., 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 over the top seeded team of Miss Moffitt and Carol Caldwell, Santa Monica, Calif.

Ed Brown's rink from Norwood, Man., and the doubles combination of George and Dave Binnie of Winnipeg won their second and third round matches Tuesday on the greens of the Mount Royal Country Club.

But both teams will have their work cut out for them in their final matches.

The Brown rink meets Alberta's Bill Leslie and Quebec's Jim Brodie in today's play. The Calgary and Verdun rinks were tied for second place with two wins and a loss each.

The Binnie brothers square off against George Rickson

and Bill Malin of Edmonton and another brother team comprised of Tom and Graham Jarvis of Vancouver in their fourth and fifth rounds of the doubles competition.

The Alberta duo is tied for first place with Manitoba with three wins apiece. The British Columbia entry is in a three-way tie for third place with Ontario and Quebec.

In the singles competition, Jim Anderson of Edmonton went into today's play well ahead of the field. He registered his second and third wins Tuesday over Malcolm Nelson of Vancouver and Malcolm Moon, Quebec representative from Lachine. He beat the B.C. representative 21-18 and trimmed Moon 21-8 in 16 ends.

Nelson lost his other game Tuesday to Jim Law of Galt, Ont., 21-16 in 23 ends.

IN SHORT ...

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Gary Smith of Victoria's Royal Colwood Club fired a four-under-par 68 to lead the field Tuesday in the opening day of match play in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association junior championships.

Smith defeated Bill Morrison of Portland, 3 and 2.

Ron Hagen, Seattle, and Dodd Fischer, Eugene, Ore., the co-medalists, also won.

The tournament ends Friday.

Also in golf, two champions were declared Tuesday as the two-day Canadian seniors golf championship ended with a first-place tie at Brantford, Ont.

Defending champion Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., and Harold H. Richardson of Montreal shot identical 78s in both rounds of the 36-hole competition.

In racing ... Gilles Vincent, 26-year-old stock car racer, was killed in an accident at Fury Speedway near Montreal. It was the second fatal accident in two weeks at the track.

Vincent's car was hit from behind during a race and flipped over several times before it caught fire. Vincent was trapped inside.

In the baseball world ... Early Wynn, who had hoped to become one of baseball's 300-game winners this year, is through for the season and will leave for home today. Chicago White Sox announced.

NEW CONTRACT FOR HUTCHINSON

Richards Pulls Out

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Paul Richards, heading for a five-year term as general manager of the National League's new Houston club, will go along with Baltimore Orioles when they ask him to finish the 1961 season.

Richards, who took over the helm of the American League Orioles in 1954 after leaving Chicago White Sox, announced his resignation as the Orioles' field manager

Tuesday just before a double-header against Los Angeles Angels.

The move was rumored for weeks. Houston begins play in an expanded National League next season.

There has been no word on Richards' likely successor at Baltimore.

Richards' move comes hard on the heels of an announcement from Cincinnati that manager Freddie Hutchinson has signed a new two-year pact to guide the National League-leading Reds.

Padding Plan Fails To Padlock Scorers

VANCOUVER — Bring on New Westminster!

This was the cry in the Vancouver dressing room Tuesday after the mainlanders had disposed of Nanaimo, 15-7, in the deciding game of their best-of-five Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinal.

The hustling Vancouverites now meet league-champion New Westminster in a best-of-seven final, which starts Thursday in the Royal City.

Kerrisdale Arena swelled with 2,900 fans Tuesday, largest crowd of the season, and Vancouver didn't let them down.

WHAT'S THIS?

The winners made a farce of Nanaimo goalie Fred Fulla's attempt to make a farce out of the game and jumped to a 7-4 half-time lead which they speedily increased to 11-5 entering the final quarter.

Fulla, who is still portly at the best of times, took advantage of the fact that ICLL rules don't state how much padding a goalie can have and stuffed himself so much that he had difficulty in retrieving loose balls and stopping high shots.

The idea was to block as much of the goal-mouth as possible—preferably all of it—but the attempt was a dismal failure as Fulla turned in a mediocre performance despite the padding.

EMPTY CAGE

Later on, when things got desperate, Nanaimo went to the other extreme. Merv Schweitzer replaced Fulla in the final period and he was yanked in favor of a sixth attacker on seven different occasions. But the move failed to produce any Nanaimo goals.

The loss left Nanaimo out of the final for only the second time since 1955.

Nanaimo played without the services of scoring star Bobby Allan, who returned to Peterborough, Ont., on Sunday. The starry Allan, who scored the winner as Nanaimo tied the series at 2-2 after being down 2-0, is a school teacher and had to return for the opening of the term.

RELATIVELY CLEAN

The game was surprisingly free of penalties with only 33 minutes assessed to the two teams. Nanaimo, as usual, collected the lion's share—20 minutes.

Top scorer was Fred Usselman, who scored four goals in sparking the Vancouver team. The Vancouver defence, meanwhile, held Nanaimo stars Don Ashbee and Jack Bionda to only one goal. Bionda got that one.

The second game of the final will be played at Vancouver next Tuesday. Third game will be played Sept. 7 at New Westminster and the fourth Sept. 11 at Vancouver.

Other dates are Sept. 13 at New Westminster, Sept. 15 at Vancouver and Sept. 16 at New Westminster. These games will be played only if necessary.

MALONEY NAMED COACH

Bid for Team Turned Down

VANCOUVER—The Pacific National Exhibition has turned down a $45,000 offer for the Western Hockey League Vancouver Canucks.

The PNE bought the club from Coley Hall seven years ago for $150,000.

Lyle Barr, a director of the PNE, said there had been no serious thought of accepting the offer.

Ornest's bid was revealed only a few hours after the Canucks announced that Phil Maloney, a former player with the club, has been signed as coach.

Maloney, a centre, was named the most valuable player in the American League last winter.

Corny? Yes! Isn't Every Fish Story?

By ERNIE FEDORUK

David Groos tells the corniest fish story of the year.

The fact that David also happens to be a politician has nothing to do with it.

David and his fishing party, which also included Charlie Ruttan, hit Nahmint recently when that hot tye country wasn't exactly hot, fish-wise.

The best the party could do is land two medium-sized tye.

Things had been so slow, the party decided to check one of the fish to see what the salmon had been feeding upon.

Accordingly, a 48-pounder was sliced open.

Corn! "Sheep me," David swears, "it was corn."

Each member of the party checked and double-checked. All agreed it was corn, presumably tossed away by some passing boat or ship.

If David cuts me in for half, I might be prompted to suggest a money-making scheme. All we have to do is to buy up all the ears of corn in the country, shape an end of each ear to give it the old plug action and tie on some hooks. Get the patent rights and we're in business, Dave!

It's getting so that there are more derbies than fish in Saanich Inlet these days.

At least, that appeared to be the case Sunday when—by quick count—four derbies were run off at the same time. In each case, the winning salmon wasn't one to set any record.

The big prize-winner, weighing in the biggest fish, was A. L. Wright. The city angler won himself an outboard motor by entering a 14-pounder in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Derby.

The ANAF consolation prize—a 14-foot fibreglass boat complete with outboard and trailer—went to B. Kay, 1636 Hampshire. And the lady wasn't even fishing!

Ian Chard's 8.12 catch topped the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association junior derby and Alf Hayward took top honors in B.C. Forest Products' fishfest with a 7.03 salmon.

Art Rhodes is the new champion angler of the Elks, Victoria Lodge, after weighing in a 7.02 salmon in the annual BPOE derby.

Speaking of derbies, there's more . . .

Esquimalt Anglers' Association stages its big annual coho hunt this weekend and the James Bay association has scheduled its five-day derby from Sept. 6 to 10.

James Bay's lengthy prize list includes three main prizes for the top coho, three for springs, and another three for the ladies in addition to several hidden-weight awards.

The only entry stipulation is that each boat entering must have at least one ramp ticket.

DRIFTING WITH THE TIDE: Sunday's derby entrants in Saanich Inlet ran into, unfortunately, one of the poorest days of the year . . . The clear, moonlit nights may be the cause . . . The theory is that the salmon are feeding at night.

As so often happens on derby days, the big ones started to come in after derby deadline . . . Andreas Jednak, fishing out of Hall's, caught a 25-pounder . . . later that day, 15-year-old Merv Nelson landed a 9.03 coho . . .

Lower Island waters continue to produce heavily . . . New run of coho appears to be moving towards Victoria waterfront . . . Sooke, from Otter Point to Becher Bay rates a "very good" report with plenty of coho showing and day-time by far the best time to hit 'em . . .

From Pender Bay to Trial Island, including such favored locales as Albert Head and Brothie Ledge, reports are from "good" to "excellent" . . . Oak Bay anglers fishing Trial Island Tuesday found the early part of the mid-day flood produced hot action . . . Holder's, at Deep Cove, reports the early morning bite hottest at the moment, but "they'll break loose at night any day now . . . maybe to night" . . . the tides are improving . . . Saanich Inlet also seemed to be picking up Tuesday and Cowichan Bay anglers also found better fishing after "fair" to "spotty" reports . . .

Aussies Wrap It Up

SOUTHAMPTON, England (Reuters) — Australia's national cricket team wound up its series of matches against English county teams Tuesday with a convincing five-wicket victory over Hampshire, the county championship leaders.

The final scores were Hampshire 194 and 221; Australians 255 and 165 for five.

Richie Benaud, the Australian captain, scored the winning runs with a fine drive for six.

The Australians were set to make 161 for victory with more than five hours' play left when they ended Hampshire's second innings at 221 after half an hour's play in the morning. The tourists won with three hours to spare.

Shoe Tossers Getting Primed For Big Meets

Three major attractions for Vancouver Island's horsehoofers' fraternity loom around the corner.

Starting the parade to the pits will be the annual Saanich town championships on Saturday, staged in conjunction with the annual Saanich Fair.

Annual city championships will be held in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday. The Island championships, to be held in Youbou, September 10, wraps up the program.

Entries, in each case, must be made at the site, and no later than 11 a.m. on the day of play.

Each tournament features three events—singles, doubles and ringers.

Girls' Tag Team Highlights Bouts

The girl grunts' groaners highlight the Memorial Arena wrestling program this Saturday at 8.30 p.m.

Baby Cheryl (a midget) and the Fabulous Moolah (a "world champion") will take on Little Darling Dagmar (another midget) and Judy Grable in a mixed tag-team match.

In preliminaries, Kay Lind Anderson fights Ivan Kamoroff and Doug Lindsey grapples with Danno McDonald.

Shutouts (For Sure!) Only Way to Tame 'Em

By Associated Press

A pitcher really has to pitch if he wants to win a game for Minnesota Twins this season. Camilo Pascual, their right-handed ace, has won a dozen games for the eighth-place American League club and most of them have come the hard way.

The curve-balling Cuban's 12-13 record includes six shutouts. Three of the other six victories have been by one run.

Pascual hung up that 12th victory and sixth shutout by knocking off New York Yankees 3-0 Tuesday night, checking the league leaders on four hits, all singles.

It was only the third victory over New York in 16 games for the Twins and all three have been shutouts, two by Pascual. He tied Baltimore's Steve Barber for the major league shutout lead and replaced Yankee Whitey Ford as the AL strikeout leader by fanning nine, getting Mickey Mantle three times.

YANKS STILL LEAD

Despite the defeat, Yanks retained a 1½-game edge over Detroit as Chicago White Sox ended the Tigers' winning streak at five, 4-3. Los Angeles Angels swept a pair of 6-5 decisions from Baltimore Orioles, taking the second in 11 innings. Cleveland Indians defeated Washington Senators 6-4 and Boston Red Sox beat Kansas City Athletics 8-4.

Pascual, who became a first-time poppa earlier in the day, put away the Yankees with a flourish. He struck out Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek in the ninth, but Roger Maris was safe on a two-base error. Then he fanned Mantle to extend his shutout streak through 20 innings and run his streakout total to 179.

Mantle was 1 for 4 and his 46-home run total leaves him just one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. Maris, 0 for 2, is eight games ahead of Ruth with his 51.

BRAVES ON MARCH

While Poppa Pascual stole the show in the junior circuit, Milwaukee Braves supplied most of the noise in the National.

The hopped-up Braves, only seven games off Cincinnati's pace, moved into third place when Ed Mathews' 26th homer in the 13th inning gave Milwaukee a 7-6 victory over the fading San Francisco Giants.

The Braves are playing the best ball in the majors, with 15 victories in their last 20 games. It was San Francisco's fifth straight loss.

The Cincinnati Reds retained their 3½-game lead with a 3-0 triumph over Pittsburgh after the Los Angeles Dodgers had nipped the Chicago Cubs, 2-1, in a day game. St. Louis Cardinals ran their winning streak to eight by beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, in the first of two games, but lost the nightcap, 4-3, in other National League games.

Choose Traits In Your Child

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — choose whatever special gifts they cherish, be these a "heart-felt loving kindness, a joyful disposition, musical proclivities, aptness at repartee, rapid calculation, courage, endurance, or what have you?"

When these opportunities become fully known, many idealistic couples, especially the sterile or those of "dubious" genetic endowment, will freely take this course, he added:

"They will do so openly and proudly, not in the clandestine manner in which artificial insemination is now carried out," he said.

Dr. Muller said that banks of sperm cells taken from men in their youth and stored in a deep freeze condition could be kept safe from radiation underground. It would also be possible, should a man die, or become sterile, his germ cells could still father a child, if this were desired, he said.

Secondly, the parents could

'VAMPIRE' GIRLS SLAIN

MANILA (Reuters) — A bus driver and his wife strangled their two daughters here Monday and told police they did it because the girls had turned into "vampires". Police said the older girl, aged 12, had a crucifix thrust into her mouth. The body of her seven-year-old sister was clutching a prayer book and a rosary. A religious image was placed at her head.

World Hockey On Television?

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian television rights to the 1962 world amateur hockey championships in Colorado have been sold to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for $15,000, it was announced on Tuesday.

The announcement was made by J. E. "Bunny" Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, who said the American rights were sold to the Columbia Broadcasting System for $60,000.

The tournament will be held in Denver and Colorado Springs, March 8 to 18, Canada, represented this year in Geneva by Trail Smoke Eaters, is the defending champion.

REGULATIONS NEEDED

Sports Aid To Be Debated

OTTAWA (CP) — Regulations under which the federal government will distribute $5,000,000 a year to encourage athletics will be drafted by the government after a general debate is held on the subject, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday.

Among the questions which would have to be considered is how the funds will be administered in such cases as an amateur hockey team sponsored by a commercial organization.

The principal consideration, he said, is that the funds are to be used for encouragement of physical fitness and amateur sport exclusively. There would be no contribution towards professional athletes and teams.

The broad outlines of government policy will be contained in the legislation to be placed before Parliament, but details of how it will be administered will be contained in regulations "which will be decided upon following discussion in Parliament," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

sought for 30 years, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

He said he had asked for suggestions from sports organizations and sports editors.

The demand for federal assistance in Canada grew following Russia's victory in the Olympic Games.

"Everywhere athletic prowess has given prestige to those nations which have had a record of victories, and the fact that the U.S.S.R. has been able in a period of 25 to 30 years to bring about such victories is something that has not been lost sight of among the uncommitted nations of the world," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — So many amateurs have gone into the business of robbing banks that the FBI is devoting its law enforcement conferences this year exclusively to bank robberies.

ISLAND DIGEST

18 Victoria Daily Times WED., AUG. 30, 1961

Regatta Set At Maple Bay

DUNCAN—All classes from "AA" cruising to tiny sabots will find competition in the annual Labor Day Regatta of Maple Bay Yacht Club, which will wind up the summer sailing program for lower Island clubs.

It will be a two-day affair, with one of the features being the three-race series for the B.C. Lightning championship. All racing will be over the six-mile course on the bay with the exception of the Maurice Green Trophy race.

Registrations will be taken all day Saturday at the yacht club. Racing will start at 10 a.m. when Dragons and Lightnings will take to the water, and Dragons, Lightnings and eight-metres will set off again at 2 p.m.

On Sunday there will be races for all classes, starting at 10 a.m. and continuing all day.

The Maurice Green Trophy race for "A," "B," "C" and Thunderbird classes will be between the white beacon on the end of Sidney Spit on Sidney Island, and Musgrave Point at the southern end of Sansum Narrows.

Warning signal will be at 10 a.m., preparatory signal at 10.05 and all classes will start at 10.10. The 10½-mile course will leave Coal Island to port, and the time limit will be five hours.

Regatta dance and rendezvous will be at the yacht club Saturday night. A separate dance has been arranged for juniors.

Ex-Alderman Fined for Lack Of Licence

DUNCAN—Former Duncan alderman, John J. Kerrone, was fined $100 in police court this week when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under legal disqualification.

Kerrone was caught in a mass police check of cars in the city last weekend.

It was explained to the court the accused had not been able to raise the money to get car insurance and file financial responsibility with the superintendent of motor vehicles. Kerrone said he was negotiating to sell a piece of property with a view to taking out insurance but that in the meantime he had "gambled" on driving.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton told Kerrone that while there might be an element of human error in a speeding offence, driving while disqualified was a deliberate breaking of the law.

Government Plans Natural Campsites

New "semi-wilderness" campsites are planned by the provincial government, Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said Tuesday.

The parks branch is checking out possible sites on central Vancouver Island, he said.

At present there are partly cleared areas along the shores of Buttle Lake with outhouse toilets and garbage cans.

"I am impressed with their success," said Mr. Westwood. The parks branch is looking at a section of the upper Buttle Lake shoreline owned by the B.C. Power Commission as one possible campsite area.

Negotiations are also continuing with Elk River Timber Co. to get boundaries of Strathcona Park extended to include northern Buttle Lake and part of Campbell River.

He was born in Liverpool, England, and is survived by the widow. Interment took place at Union Cemetery with full military honors.

Interdict 'Violated'

DUNCAN—Gerald Thomas Littlejohn, who was unable to pay a $25 fine for being on licensed premises while on the interdict list, was sentenced Tuesday by Magistrate A. C. Sutton to 30 days in Oakalla. He had been released from the prison only the day before. It was reported he had had five previous convictions this year.

NANAIMO—Majorettes sponsored by Nanaimo Canadian Legion Branch No. 10 and directed by Mrs. Eileen Hill, won eight trophies in PNE competition at Empire Stadium to lead all other teams taking part.

Record Attendance Seen For Saanichton Fall Fair

Nearly-doubled parking space is expected to help top last year's attendance record of 10,000 visitors to the Saanichton Fall Fair at Saanichton opening Saturday.

"It will be the biggest yet," predicted North and South Saanich Agricultural Society treasurer S. G. Stoddart.

Besides provision for nearly 900 cars, the association has set up two new exhibit buildings, making three large permanent structures including the Agricultural Hall.

The fair is 93 years old—oldest country fair with continuous record west of the Great Lakes.

It is also claimed to be the biggest of its kind in B.C., with 27 sections and almost $10,000 in prize money.

DUST FOUGHT

A dust problem often encountered with exhibits and events sprawled over 13 acres of land is being combatted already with spreading of sawdust and oil in the traffic areas.

Official opening of the fair will be by Agriculture Minister Frank Richter, at 1.30 p.m. Saturday.

Features "of the rest of the day include 4-H square dancing and 4-H work displays, interior and exterior exhibits, western horse events, Sidney Rotary-sponsored midway, rabbit, poultry, goat and budgie displays, and games.

Only events set for Sunday are the children's riding classes. The midway will be closed.

DANCING, PIPING

On Labor Day the midway resumes and the previous exhibits will again be open. Features of the day will be English saddle classes, Highland dancing and piping events, and senior cattle judging.

Organizers of the poultry section claim they will have the most colorful and competitive poultry show ever seen on the Island, perhaps in the entire northwest.

Convener E. D. Wood said, "There will be exotic pheasants, such as Amhersts and Swinhoes, fancy waterfowl, wood ducks, grey calls and jet-black Indias."

"The poultry will have some of the largest Cornish games to the smallest old English games. The pigeon section will boast many fine racing homers, rollers, tumbler, kings, nuns and many more show birds."

MANY TROPHIES

There will be six perpetual trophies at stake; three from the agricultural association, one each from Island View Game Farm and Victoria Poultry Association and the Rothgord Trophy.

And as an unusual feature, the Capital City Racing Pigeon Club will release 200 racing birds from the platform with the opening ceremonies. Many of these homers were in an Edmonton-Victoria race two weeks ago.

BUILDING SHOWS GAIN

NANAIMO (CP)—Building permits issued in the regulated areas adjacent to Nanaimo total $163,125 to date this month.

Total permits issued since Jan. 1 now stand at $1,691,476, almost $240,000 ahead of the same period last year.

Warning Out On Forged Money Orders

Royal Canadian Mounted Police are warning merchants of the central and lower Island of forged money orders that have been cashed in the last two days in Victoria.

They were stolen from some post office, and have been made out for $100. Eight of the forged orders were cashed in Victoria, according to police.

Fish Resort Without Boat Ramp

DUNCAN—Grumbles are beginning to multiply among fishermen here because of the lack of boat launching facilities at Cowichan Bay, popular boating centre catering to Duncan and Victoria sportsmen.

"It's a laughable situation when a fishing spot with the reputation of Cowichan Bay lacks the modern convenience of a public boat-launching ramp," said Lewis Langlois, president of the Cowichan Fish and Game Club.

One fisherman said sportsmen were making their way north to Nanaimo because of the lack of facilities at Cowichan Bay.

"There is a privately-owned launching ramp, but it is of no use to fishermen as it is not available until 8 a.m. It's time somebody did something," he said.

The provincial highways department says the entire road along the shoreline of the bay is unsafe because of lack of space for a turnout and parking of cars and trailers.

Halibut Season Closes Sept. 7

Halibut season on the west coast will close Sept. 7 at 6 a.m., according to the International Pacific Halibut Commission.

Area concerned lies between Heceta Head, Ore., 150 miles south of the Columbia River, and Cape Spencer, Alaska, at the northern end of the Alaskan Panhandle.

Figures on the 1961 catch to Aug. 1 show Prince Rupert to be the "halibut capital of the world," according to Mayor P. J. Lester. In second and third places according to landings are Seattle and Ketchikan.

control at three Columbia dams in Canada.

Mr. Bennett said he wanted his 5-mill price "in constant U.S. dollars." That would assure him the full price at today's values, with no danger from the effects of possible fluctuation in future U.S. purchasing power.

The premier's attitude was that he is determined to have both Peace and Columbia projects.

"You can have both if the Americans will pay us an adequate price for the power generated in the U.S." he said.

The premier also defended the B.C. Energy Board's assessment of costs of the two projects.

REPORT STUDIED

A study of the report to the board by two British consulting firms earlier this week disclosed a lower cost for the Columbia than figures in the final board report.

The consultants gave a figure of 3.61 mills; the board gave 4.03 mills.

Mr. Bennett did not say who was right, nor would he offer comment directly on the difference.

"I have great confidence in the energy board," he said. "It is composed of five great men. I don't think anyone could say it is a hand-picked partisan group."

"I love criticism," he continued, "but I resent strongly criticism of this energy board of ours and these five outstanding men."

"STOOP LOW"

"It just shows the political critics of Social Credit—how low they will stoop to criticize a commission like that."

Mr. Bennett said he did not know why his critics were so opposed to the Peace River project. They had originally been critical because of the interest of Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren in the scheme. But this does not hold true now it is a public plan.

"We have unmasked these people," said the premier. "They're against the development of B.C."

He added there was only one reason for his action in taking over the B.C. Electric and the Peace: "Because the premier felt it was in the best interests of the people of B.C."

EVERYTHING DONE

"Everything that could be done is being done to expedite construction of the Peace," said Mr. Bennett.

Latest move is a call for tenders Friday for a $250,000 bridge to cross the river at the Hudson Hope damsite to ease construction. The B.C. Electric is handling this. The highways department already has started work on access roads from Hudson Hope to the site.

Mr. Bennett said he planned a personal inspection of the site in October. He will travel to the Peace country on the PGE railway.

As for the Columbia: "I am very confident we will be able to develop the Columbia on schedule and come to an agreement with the U.S. and Ottawa."

Mr. Bennett said he hoped to have a meeting shortly with federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming to discuss this.

He said the question of selling downstream benefits to the U.S. was settled in the Columbia treaty already signed by Ottawa and Washington. Conservative MP for Comox-Alberni Harry McQuillan had already backed such sales, he said.

To bring them all back to Canada would be like importing coals to Newcastle.

Forged Notes From Prairies Cashed Here

At least $800 worth of forged postal money orders have been cashed in Greater Victoria within a few days, city police said today.

The orders are part of about $6 which were stolen July 21 at Debden, Sask., and validated with a post office issuing stamp stolen later from an Edmonton sub-post office.

All money orders cashed so far are in the sum of $100, said city detectives, who are working on the investigation with the RCMP.

A man who approached a cashier with another of the money orders at Hudson's Bay Co. store Tuesday ran away when employees attempted to check references.

Transit Group To Consider Bus Complaints

Ald. Michael Griffin Tuesday said the city's transit committee will meet within a week to consider complaints about the new bus routes.

He said criticism has come from some householders along new routes against the noise and vibration caused by the vehicles.

Meanwhile, a B.C. Electric official revealed that no personnel have been fired as a result of the cutback in services.

"Normal retirements, without anyone being hired to fill the positions, have reduced our staff to a suitable level," he said.

GUESTS FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

Pioneers of 1887 Sought By Centennial Planners

Victoria's centennial committee today opened a hunt for the names of all living pioneers who were in this area in 1887 or before.

"The year 1887 has been selected because that was Victoria's 25th birthday and it means all the pioneers we honor during next year's centenary will be 75 years of age or older," said sub-committee chairman James K. Nesbitt.

Mr. Nesbitt asked all pioneers to send in their names to City Hall. He also asked anyone knowing of a pioneer now living elsewhere to send in his or her name too. "The deadline will have to be Dec. 31 because there will be a tremendous amount of work cataloging all the names."

Tentative plans are being made to have a gala birthday party for the pioneers at the Empress Hotel late in May.

The oldest man and woman in the group will be crowned King and Queen of the Pioneers.

All pioneers will be honor guests at centennial celebrations during 1962.

Mr. Nesbitt said pioneers do not have to be born here or living here now to be eligible.

"So long as they were in the Greater Victoria area in 1887 or before, we want their names."

Assisting Mr. Nesbitt are Inez Mitchell and K. C. Drury.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The weather disturbance giving cloud over Victoria may drop some rain here tonight, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"We're not alone in this dull weather," he said. "The cloud reaches from the Queen Charlottes to Seattle, and inland as far as Trail."

He predicted partial clearing for Thursday, but another weather system heading this way may give rain that night," he said.

Winds Thursday will be up to 20 miles per hour and gusty from the southwest, and temperatures will range between 52 and 65 degrees.

Regular meeting of the CNR Veterans' Association will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Cormorant Street.

Starting on Tuesday, the British Israel Association's book room and library at 738 Fort Street will be open on week days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., closing on Wednesdays at 1 p.m.

Weekly meetings of the association will start Sept. 12.

Kenneth Briggs, 50, of 1091 San Marina, was admitted for observation at St. Joseph's Hospital after the car he was driving was in collision with another auto at Blanshard and Humboldt at 8:57 p.m. Tuesday.

His forehead was cut and he was shaken up when his car crashed with one driven by Herbert Wright, 1435 Mitchell.

First theft from a provincial government campaign in this area was reported Tuesday night to Sidney RCMP.

Los Angeles campers Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morris told police they were away from their McDonald Campsite tent until 5:30 p.m., and when they returned a three-burner gasoline stove valued at $25 was missing.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. On Aug. 15, 1859, Sir James Douglas laid the corner stone for a building in Victoria—what was the name of the building, and where was it located? —R. J. R.

A. According to the files of a Victoria newspaper being published at that time, the building was the First Wesleyan Methodist Church, and it was located at the corner of Pandora Avenue and Broad Street.

Chamber of Commerce Moves to Bank Building

Arrangements were completed today for lease of office space on the second floor of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, the organization's manager, John Coppinger, announced today.

Several thousand dollars' worth of renovations will be undertaken by the bank before the chamber moves in Sept. 15.

The chamber has rented office space in the second floor of the Black Ball Ferry building, for more than 12 years but this space is being taken over, it is understood, by a restaurant business.

The bank premises, Mr. Coppinger said, were judged by a chamber committee to be the most suitable of a great number of locations considered.

The space will be leased for the same rent now being paid in the Black Ball building.

Several organizations which were sub-tenants of the chamber in the old location have found new quarters.

The Rotary Club has taken office space in the Empress Hotel and the Victoria Building Industries Exchange has located at 543 Bastion. The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria Safety Council, however, will move to the new office above the bank.

P & O Liner Defeats Cholera

Unlimited precautions have been taken by P & O-Orient Lines to protect passengers, crew and visitors aboard the liner Orcaades from the cholera epidemic which reached Hong Kong shortly after the ship left there for Japan.

She is due here on the morning of Sept. 7 to pick up a press party, then will dock at Vancouver at 5 p.m.

As a precaution against cholera all passengers and crew—more than 1,400—were inoculated by medical officers on the ship.

The five-day incubation period will have been over three times before she reaches Victoria, but she will have a double check by U.S. health authorities in Honolulu and Canadian officials who will go aboard off shore from Victoria.

As a further precaution, all persons wishing to board the ship here must be inoculated against cholera by Sept. 1.

When Orcaades arrives in Vancouver she will find her "twin," Oronsay, there ahead of her. Oronsay will dock at 1 p.m. from Panama, and the meeting of the ships will be the first occasion since the Second World War of two ships on world schedules meeting in Vancouver.

THE OLD BRICK BUILDING AIN'T WHAT SHE USED TO BE

This Can't Be the Empress! Really?

By NORMAN CHIBBENS
Is the character of the Empress Hotel changing?

Women in shorts and slacks are now a familiar sight around the stately lobby and people wearing dressing gowns over their swimsuits may be seen walking across to the Crystal Garden.

The new Motor Lodge on the Humboldt Street side of the hotel is held responsible for the change in Empress fashions.

But Cyril Chapman, manager, insists the standards of gracious living for which the hotel is world famous have not been affected by the lodge.

"This type of accommodation is intended for travelling holiday makers and we expect them to dress more informally. All the hotel facilities are available to them, so it is natural that people in holiday attire should be seen in the lobby.

Catering Standards

"But when they use the main dining room they dress more formally and our standards of catering and service have not been affected in any way."

What do the guests think? "Well," said a businessman from Vancouver who has been using the hotel for more than 20 years, "I must say it shocks me to see women in shorts and slacks wandering around the lounge.

"It just doesn't go with the atmosphere of the place. This is one of the most dignified hotels in the world and I wouldn't be seen dead around here in shorts."

Mrs. Lucille Juntun, a visitor from Saskatoon, thinks the Empress has changed for the better.

"It is more alive than it used to be," she said. "There are more young people—not so many old colonels and lacy old ladies—more of a cosmopolitan atmosphere."

"Yes, I think the Motor Lodge has improved the old place."

Three women in shorts and two wearing slacks were seen at the cigar stand opposite the hotel's reception desk this morning. They attracted little attention, although some 30 other women in their vicinity wore summery dresses.

No Evening Dress

"I must admit it takes a bit of getting used to," remarked a veteran member of the staff. "I can remember the day when most of our guests wore evening dress after 6 p.m. But customs and fashions are changing everywhere and the Empress has to move with the times."

Some local residents deplore the introduction of motel accommodation at the Empress, but people in the tourist trade regard it as an outstanding success.

The Motor Lodge has been booked solid ever since it opened on Aug. 1 and there is a waiting list. Hundreds of people have stayed there who would not otherwise have used the hotel at all.

"We could never afford the regular hotel rates," said a family man from Portland. "But $7 for a room for myself and my wife is perfectly reasonable and it is a privilege to be able to use the lovely hotel gardens and the conservatory."

"I don't mind going over to the Crystal Garden with a dressing gown over my swimsuit, but I wouldn't dream of wandering around the hotel like that. No Sir!"

Inquest Finds Shooting Accidental

Rifle Loaded By Boy Victim

The rifle which killed 10-year-old Reginald Alsford Monday afternoon was loaded by himself.

This was revealed at the inquest in McCall's Funeral Chapel today when a six-man jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

But there was no direct evidence as to who pulled the trigger while Reginald was playing with 10-year-old Vincent Liska in the basement of his home at 512 Selkirk.

Reginald, who lived at 216 Robert, was dead on arrival at Royal Jubilee Hospital soon after 3 p.m.

His companion, Vincent Liska, told the jury:

"I got out the gun and a bullet. I didn't know how to load it, but Reggie did. He loaded it and handed it back to me and it went off."

I AM SHOT

"He put his hands to his stomach and said 'I am shot.' He ran upstairs and outside and fell against a gate. He got up and ran towards the front of the house and fell again."

Victoria lawyer E. Jorre de St. Jorre represented Vincent at the inquest and asked that the boy be given protection under the Canada Evidence Act by which evidence given at an inquest cannot be used against him.

"Was that the first time you have handled a rifle?" Coroner H. E. Alder asked Reginald.

HAD HUNTED

"Well, I have been hunting with my Dad," he replied. He added that it was the first time he had handled a rifle on this occasion.

Dr. Ross-McNeely said Reginald died from a bullet wound under the heart which severed an artery. The bullet passed through the abdominal wall, through the lower part of the stomach and through the central part of the pancreas and was deflected by the spine.

The direction of the bullet was head on but slightly to the left," Dr. McNeely said. Vincent's stepfather, T. G. Rayfuse, said the rifle he gave to police after the accident was a Fabrique Nationale single shot .22 calibre.

"This is the gun the boy said he had."

Mr. Rayfuse said he had owned the rifle since he was eight years old and kept it in a drawer in his basement well above the ground. Ammunition for the rifle was kept locked up in a box about six feet away.

"I was not at home at the time of the accident," he told the jury.

Funeral services will be conducted at McCall's funeral chapel Thursday at 3:15 p.m. by Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James, followed by burial at Royal Oak Cemetery.

Sooke Potholes Fire Controlled

A forest fire in Sooke west of the potholes is well under control and we don't anticipate any problems with it," a B.C. Forest Service spokesman said today.

The fire, started Sunday by an arsonist, now has burned over 140 acres. There are still 80 men and six bulldozers at work containing the blaze.

It broke out on the CNR right-of-way about a mile from the potholes on Sooke River. Soon after, a torch made rags tied to a hammer handle was found at the scene. The offender is still at large.

VETERAN of 33 years of military service, most of it with PPCLI, Major Norman Featherstone retires this month from the Canadian Army. Born in 1912, he enlisted in the PPCLI at age 16, was commissioned in 1941, and took part in the Sicily landings and other action with the unit. In 1958, after service at military posts across Canada, he came here as adjutant of Esquimalt Garrison. He is active in Masonic lodges, Victoria Horticultural Society, Canadian Club, and St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society. He and Mrs. Featherstone live at 1541 Despard Avenue.

Credit Union Official Remanded

Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, chief clerk in the city comptroller's department, listened impassively today as charges alleging $1,122.43 in thefts were read to him in city police court.

Arrested Tuesday in connection with a $3,522.43 shortage in Victoria Civic Credit Union funds, the 32-year employee of the city was remanded to next Tuesday to elect form of trial.

He is free on $1,000 bail. MacKenzie, 51, appeared before Magistrate William Ostler.

He is treasurer of the credit union and president of the inside staff association.

A seven-count charge dating from July 30, 1960, alleges six thefts of $100 each and one of $520, over 11 months up to June 30 of this year.

Magistrate Ostler noted to counsel Gilbert Smith that a second charge, containing two counts, is also alleged, each count involving $1,200 for June 1 and July 3, 1961, respectively.

He was remanded to Thursday for sentence by Magistrate William Ostler.

Court was told Fox drove east on Trans-Canada Highway near Portage, pulled out to pass another car, swung over to avoid an on-coming car, lost control, hit the gravel shoulder, swerved and lurched out of control for more than 200 feet and finally the car flipped onto its roof across a ditch near Admirals Road.

He was charged with driving while under suspension—imposed two years ago—careless driving, and driving without insurance.

Mayor Lashes Parking Critic

Anonymous Charges 'Untrue, Unfair'

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor Percy Scurrell today lashed out at "untrue and unfair" statements made in an anonymous circular letter opposing the city's $1,115,000 parking garage plan.

Letters supporting and opposing the project went out to all 220 downtown property owners who are eligible to vote on the issue Thursday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the city clerk's office.

The letter supporting the plan was sent out by the Downtown Business Association.

The anonymous letter criticizing the scheme claimed present parking accommodation on View Street is operating at only 30 per cent capacity and it also charged "every project City Hall has tackled in the past has proved to be disastrous" for the taxpayer.

"This is both untrue and unfair," exclaimed the mayor when he received the letter. He criticized a reference to over-expenditures in construction of Memorial Arena.

Guilty Plea On 3 Charges After Smashup

Victoria driver Ronald George Fox, who escaped injury when his car was wrecked at midnight Tuesday, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court today to three charges.

Fox was charged with driving while under suspension—imposed two years ago—careless driving, and driving without insurance.

He was remanded to Thursday for sentence by Magistrate William Ostler.

Court was told Fox drove east on Trans-Canada Highway near Portage, pulled out to pass another car, swung over to avoid an on-coming car, lost control, hit the gravel shoulder, swerved and lurched out of control for more than 200 feet and finally the car flipped onto its roof across a ditch near Admirals Road.

Charge Laid Against City Garage Owner

City lawyer and garage owner Ernest H. M. Foot was charged in city police court today for violating a building inspector's order condemning two floors of a parking garage at 727 Johnson.

The offence dated Aug. 21 refers to the second and third floors of the building, known as Olympic Storage Garage, of which he is the owner.

The inspector's order was to the effect the floors should not be occupied.

Mr. Foot did not appear personally, but was represented by counsel Joseph McKenna.

The accused two weeks ago became a leading opponent of a bylaw to provide off-street parking facilities, upon which a downtown precinct of property owners votes Thursday.

Appeal Forecast

A Victoria labor official said today he is sure the British Columbia Federation of Labor will appeal a Supreme Court decision upholding controversial British Columbia labor legislation.

Edwin Haw, financial secretary of the 1,500-member Local 1-118 International Woodworkers of America and a trustee of the union's district council, was commenting on a Monday decision by Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker, who praised Bill 42 as safeguarding an individual's rights.

"The federation made a decision some months ago to test this law in the courts of the land. I'm sure it will appeal the case to the Privy Council, or as far as it can go," Mr. Haw said.

Organized labor from the Canadian Labor Congress down to local unions across the land have denounced the law as an infringement of individual liberty to support a political party of one's choice.

GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 359

19 Per Cent More Aided by Grants

University students eligible for provincial government "money-for-marks" scholarships have increased by 19 per cent over last year, with a total of 359 in the province who can have half their tuition fees paid by the government, 73 of them from Vancouver Island.

Ranging in value from $161 to $264, depending upon what faculty the student registers in, the government awards are made to all university students in the province with final averages for their year of 80 per cent or better.

They may be used at Victoria College or at the University of British Columbia.

Besides the students attaining first-class marks, a larger unspecified number with second class marks will have a third of their tuition paid.

Just Dangle a Bangle—It's Old-Fangle But Fun

By PENNY SAVER

It may rain in Spain (on that plain), but this can't deter the bubbling spirits of those Spaniards. Take Carmen for instance, that dark, mysterious, exotic, quixotic and absolutely glorious (the boys tell me) piece of feminine folklore. Come what might, she remained bewitching. Part of her charm? The rosy of spangling, dangling, jingle-jangling bangles upon her arms. And the tressors worn for it.

Is there not a little of the Carmen in you? Don't hide it! A Victoria shop has bangles for every occasion and mood, in alloys that can pass for gold and sterling silver. Price tag reads only 75 cents on beautiful bangles, some plain, some decorated, in silver or gold colors. At this price, the erst-while Carmen can afford to buy several.

Bangles of real sterling silver are not all that much more, $2 each for narrow bands, and $3 each for narrow "twists" and decorated bracelets. A "snake" bracelet, with head and tail curling around the wrist, is $3.50 (in sterling).

Have you ever heard of Capri pop-overs? (My how we are staying in the Mediterranean area today!) They are a combination nightie-pyjama, a type of long baby doll—anyway, they are sleepwear. Pyjama pants reach just below the knee, and are topped by a loose-fitting, round-necked short mu-mu. Of soft flannel, these would be popular with the teenage set, especially at sale price of only $2.99 (regularly $3.99). Colors are blue, lime green, mauve and rose.

WHY GROW OLD?

Best to Drink Fortified Skim Milk

I get volumes of mail and such interesting questions, that I like to pass some of them on to you.

1. Does skim milk have the same nutritive values of whole milk? Yes, except for a loss in vitamin A and D content. Vitamin A is widely distributed in the food world. Green and yellow vegetables are especially rich sources. Use skim milk which is fortified with vitamin A and D.

2. I have a friend who swears that she lost 10 pounds simply by standing up for 10 minutes after each meal.

I wish it were as simple as that. Your friend is diet-minded, and evidently cut down more than she realized on her daily calorie intake. If it makes it seem easier to lose weight to stand up for 10 minutes after eating, I am all for it.

3. My mother tells me that fat runs in our family and I can't do anything about it. I am 35 years old and 40 pounds overweight. Am I really doomed?

Definitely not! You may have inherited a glandular system which leads to overweight, but more likely you inherited some fattening eating habits. In any case, you are not doomed. If you have a mild tendency to overweight because of your glandular setup, you will just have to be more calorie conscious than others from middle age on. If you have a real problem, your doctor can help you with medication. All is not lost! Before you see a doctor—count your calories.

4. I am confused. I do not know whether or not the water-packed fruits have the same health value the regular ones have.

The bearer of bad news is never popular, but I am not to lose weight, or hold the line, you will find that the water-packed fruits are more rewarding, and will even taste sweeter to you, when the scales give you the good news.

5. Is there any difference between the calorie count of plain bread and toast? No, not if you use the same kind of bread.

BRISK BARBECUE BREAD

A hot bread dresses up a barbecue dinner. Here's a quick and easy one with lots of flavor. Start with 2 cups biscuit mix, add a tablespoon instant minced onion and 1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese. Combine 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1/2 cup milk, and stir into dry mixture. Roll about 1/4 inch thick, and cut into biscuits. Sprinkle tops with sesame seeds. Bake in hot oven about 10 minutes. You can make these large if you wish, and serve broiled beef-burgers in them.

DEAR ABBY

In Other Words . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a navy guy. He has been stationed on the Atlantic coast and will be for some time. He wants me to make a trip there to visit him. I haven't seen him in over two years. He is willing to pay for my fare both ways, but my father will not permit it. Isn't it proper for a fiance to pay for his girl's transportation? I am 19 and he is 21.

"ATLANTIC OR BUST?" DEAR ATLANTIC: Your "navy guy" has had enough leave in two years to have visited you. And if he can pay your way to see him, he can pay his way to see you. I'm with your father. Bust!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are at odds about my attitude toward the telephone. I say our telephone is for our convenience, not the convenience of others and, therefore, I will answer it when and if I feel like it. He says I should answer it every time it rings because it might be an emergency. I say if it is an emergency they will call again.

I have been up to my neck in housework when a friend has phoned to "chat." I have even gotten out of the tub, rushed to answer the phone, bumped my shin and cracked my toe, only to find that it was a wrong number. Or some dance studio is calling to inform me that I have just "wog" a free lesson. I have trained my husband to call at 12:15. I will answer the phone at that time no matter what I am doing. I'd like your opinion, and the opinion of others on this subject.

MIND OF MY OWN.

DEAR MIND: Although the telephone is unquestionably the number one time-saving miracle of the age, it can also be an annoying intrusion. If you are one of the few who can hear the bell toll, and care not a whit by whom it is tolled, then let it ring. It's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that a red-headed woman is much harder to get along with than a blonde. Is this true?

SHOPPING AROUND. DEAR SHOPPING: No! I know a woman who has been both, and the color of her hair didn't affect her disposition in the slightest.

An International Picnic

Miss Ruth Adams, president of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, was among those who travelled to Port Angeles on Sunday to attend an international picnic. Hosts were members of the Port Angeles club.

Others attending from Victoria were Mrs. C. A. Curry, Mrs. J. A. Stewart McColm, Mrs. L. Rust, Mrs. W. Forsythe, Mrs. S. E. Wade, Mrs. F. McClement, Mrs. F. G. Athley, Mrs. C. MacLean, Mrs. G. Benbow, Mrs. P. Larcombe and the Misses Bernice Harvey, Vicki Rusk, Helen Mellor, Ella Brett, Isabel Brandon, Agnes McMuldroch, Winnifred Ellis, Marjory Gibson, Emily Boyce, Elizabeth Clement and Helen Cruikshank.

Upon arrival the visitors were taken by car to Crescent Lake, where luncheon was served at the lodge. They were welcomed by Mrs. Harriet Johnson, past Washington State president, and Mrs. Jo Danz, president of the Port Angeles club. A tour of Peninsula College, recently opened, was a highlight of afternoon's activities.

Zinnias and Chrysanthemums In Gorge Presbyterian Church

White chrysanthemums and salmon-toned zinnias decorated Gorge Presbyterian Church when Rev. J. C. Boyne united in marriage Barbara Deanna Lindsay Alexander and Carl William Chalk. Zinnias in the same tone marked guest pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Marsden Alexander, 2833 Admirals Road, and Mr. and Mrs. William Max Chalk, 906 Sioux Place. Mr. Alexander gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was lovely in a floor-length white gown that had appliques of Chantilly lace on the full skirt that was posed over hoops. Chantilly lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped dropped waistline and sleeves, ending in lily points. Appliques of lace enhanced two net panels that floated to floor length from the back neckline. Veil was shoulder length and only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift of the groom. White roses and white feathered carnations were in the bouquet.

Identical bouffant gowns in lime green with headpieces of lime green and white net were chosen by maid of honor, Miss Marion Alexander, the bride's sister, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Jack Cameron and Mrs. Geoff Hett. Gloves toned with their gowns and bouquets were of salmon gladioli.

Junior bridesmaid, Julie Alexander, wore a white nylon frock and a crown of white feathered carnations. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and marguerites.

Ken Brown was best man and ushers were Brian Canfield and William Alexander, the bride's brother. Organist was Gladstone Clarke.

White tulle and salmon-toned rosebuds circled the three-tier wedding cake that centred head table at a reception in Holyrood House. Salmon gladioli completed table decor.

John Murphy proposed the toast to his niece's happiness.

For a honeymoon trip to the United States the new Mrs. Chalk wore a white Italian knit suit with white accessories, maribou feathered hat, carnation corsage.

Treasures of Dunvegan Well Cared For and Loved

By ELIZABETH FORBES

When I visited Dunvegan, him what you will, he loves Castle on the Isle of Skye a few weeks ago, Dame Flora was in Ireland at the wedding of her grandson John, who will be chief of Clan MacLeod some day.

Forbes

It was disappointing not to see her in the home she loves so well, but even if I had changed my itinerary, it would have been impossible, for immediately following the wedding, she flew to Canada to be present at Highland gatherings in the Maritimes.

Before she left Skye, however, the Chief had arranged that I would be welcomed at the castle whenever I arrived.

The morning I walked down the rhododendron-hedged driveway and looked up at the Castle of Dunvegan (once completely surrounded by water and now joined to the land by a bridge spanning the former moat), Charles Heron was waiting for me.

Butler, overseer, guide, call

A Flag, a Cup and a Horn

In the drawing room, oldest room in the castle and once the old banquet hall, are the three treasures most prized (among a wealth of treasures) in Dunvegan Castle — Faery Flag, Dunvegan Cup and Rory Mor's horn.

The fourth Chief married a fairy, so Charles Heron told me, and they lived together many years. When she was "very old" she decided she must return to her people.

So, the two parted at the Faery Bridge, still to be found four miles from Dunvegan.

Before his wife left him she handed the Chief the faery flag with instructions that on three occasions only, it could be waved by the Chief, and her people would come.

Twice it was waved in the olden days when the clan was him what you will, he loves Dunvegan Castle, and the people who live in it.

"I came from the south in 1928, when I was a very young man," he told me, "I married a MacLeod—one of the housemaids—and I've stayed on. I'm almost one of the clan now."

We spent hours wandering from room to room, with Charles Heron telling me the history and some of the stories that have grown up around this oldest inhabited castle in Britain. The MacLeods themselves have lived in it since the 13th century.

From the entrance hall with its mounted bear's head over the stairs and the MacLeod motto "Hold Fast," we went through the great hallway with its collection of family swords and dirks to the dining room, with its intriguing cabinet of relics of Bonnie Prince Charlie and Flora Macdonald (not there because the MacLeods as a clan supported the Jacobite cause but because a daughter of Flora Macdonald later married a son of the 22nd Chief and brought them with her to Dunvegan).

surrounded by enemies and twice it saved them.

In 1928 the old wing of the castle caught fire.

"All the villagers came to help," Charles Heron told me, "but the flames spread and it looked as if the castle was doomed."

Once again the faery flag was brought out and waved.

"Now, you can tell me that there is some special explanation," the quiet Scottish voice said, "or you can believe in the power of the fairies. Whatever it was, the flames immediately died down and the castle was saved."

Rory Mor's ox horn, banded with silver showing delicate Celtic etchings, supplies the test of manhood for each succeeding Chief of the Macleod's, who is required to drain it empty of claret at a single draught.

He Proved His Manhood

"At his coming of age banquet on August 14, 1956, our John stood in this very room before the fireplace," Charles Heron said proudly, "and drank without setting down, in one minute and fifty-seven seconds."

The horn holds one bottle and a quarter of claret, Charles Heron and the young chief, elect knew that before the test. They tried it out in the kitchen on the eve of the banquet.

The Dunvegan Cup is of bog oak, heavily mounted with silver filigree and formerly studded with semi-precious stones, a few of which remain.

It was made in 1493 for a

Charles Heron touched it gently with his fingers.

"Now we are to have an Irish lass in the castle as the wife of the one we have chosen to be our next Chief."

"She was here not long before the wedding," he continued quietly, "We saw that she had a feel for the castle and the things we love."

"She'll make a good wife for our John."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When stitching fabrics made of a synthetic fibre, the thread should also be of a man-made fibre. Otherwise, seams may pucker or, if the fabric is long-wearing and the thread is not, seams will pop long before the garment is worn out.

If a drawer or door pull has come loose because the screw has worn a hole too large to grip the wood, an easy remedy is plastic wood. Fill the hole, let it harden for a few hours, then screw the knob in place. Plastic wood handles like putty and hardens into wood.

Storing Fresh Lamb: When fresh lamb is brought home, the wrapping should be removed. Lamb should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator, uncovered or very loosely wrapped with waxed paper. Temperature range for storing uncooked lamb: 32 to 40 degrees F.

Ground lamb, like any ground meat, should be kept in the coldest spot in the refrigerator. When necessary to hold ground lamb more than 24 hours, carefully wrap to exclude all air, then freeze.

Victoria Girl Married In Peterborough Church

Of interest to many Victorians was the recent marriage in All Saints Anglican Church, Peterborough, Ont., of Miss Denise May Anthonisen and Charles William Dorrington. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Anthonisen, Beechwood Avenue, Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Dorrington of Peterborough.

Double ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. M. P. Poole and Rev. D. R. Cook. The bride was given in marriage by Dr. R. B. Pritchard, Havelock, Ont.

White peau de soie created the bell-shaped skirt which cascaded full length into a slight train, while bodice of the bridal gown was designed with neckline and lily point sleeves of lace. The bride made her veil of illusion silk, which was held with a rhinestone tiara. She carried white roses in her bouquet.

Gowns of peacock blue peau de soie complemented with bouquets of Johanna Hill roses were ensembles of Miss Patricia Pomeroy, maid of honor, and Miss Keryl Dorrington, flower girl. Harvey Howden was best man, with Dennis Dorrington and Wayne Dorrington, ushers.

Traditional wedding music was played by H. John Harris, with Miss Penny MacFarlane as soloist. Selections included "23rd Psalm" and "The Wedding Hymn."

A reception was held in the church auditorium where Mrs. R. B. Pritchard, cousin of the bride, received guests.

For travelling on honeymoon to Prince Edward Island the new Mrs. Dorrington changed into an ensemble of beige brocade, with accessories in beige and leaf-green tones and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorrington are now living at 579 Aylmer Street, Peterborough, Ont.

Color, No! Co-Ordinate—But Certainly!

TORONTO (CP)—There is no such thing as a "fashionable" color, says Toronto designer Maria de Nagay. One should think only of good color co-ordination.

"I feel strongly that color is a main factor in everything in life, whether it is fashion, interiors, art, on stage, costumes—everything," the Hungarian-born Maria added.

For room decoration, for instance, it could be plain white with just one accent color, or six well-chosen colors. The right amount is important.

A neutral background could achieve a spacious and quiet setting for a smaller room.

"In a large room, you can afford more color," she explained.

Guinea Says N.Y. Police Beat Envoy

NEW YORK (AP)—A storm spawned by a minor auto accident in Harlem Saturday is showing signs of developing into a full-blown international incident threatening United States-Guinea relations. The African state brought up the question of continued good relations Monday after police commissioner Michael J. Murphy cleared a patrolman of blame in a fight with Michel Collet, Guinea's deputy permanent representative to the UN. Collet claimed he was beaten by patrolman James O'Grady following the accident. O'Grady said it was the other way around. Shortly after Murphy's announcement, Guinea called a press conference at United Nations headquarters and accused the New York City police department of racial discrimination and brutality. Police said Collet, 38, attacked O'Grady after the diplomat's car bumped into a taxi.

LABOR BOARD FINDS

SIU 'Rigged' 1958 Vote To Amalgamate Engineers

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board ruled today that the independent Seafarers' International Union of Canada committed "acts of fraud against the board" in certification hearings involving Great Lakes marine engineers.

The board's ruling was contained in a judgment giving its reasons for rejecting SIU bids for certification as bargaining agent for some 214 engineers and deck officers employed by seven inland shipping companies.

Signed by board chairman C. Rhodes Smith, the 13-page judgment upheld evidence given by two former SIU officers that a vote was rigged in 1958 to show that the engineers wanted to amalgamate with the SIU.

The board finds that the "so-called amalgamation vote in 1958 was conducted in a manner fraudulent to the engineers, and that both the engineers and their employing companies were almost certainly misled by the result of the vote so obtained."

"No claim by the SIU to engineer membership in the union based on this vote can be entertained by the board."

FOUR UNIONS INVOLVED

The judgment stems from three hearings before the board. Labor sources said Tuesday night establishment of a new union to fill the jurisdictional vacuum in the maritime industry created by expulsion of the SIU last year has been under consideration for some time.

The CLC executive council is expected to take up the matter at its next meeting here Sept. 8. It is understood that an organizing office has been set up in Montreal in anticipation of CLC approval.

This office is reported under the direction of Michael Sheehan, a former SIU organizer who said he quit the SIU last November. He was one of five witnesses who testified in June before the Canada Labor Relations Board that SIU Canadian director Hal C. Banks had been engaged in union election rigging.

The SIU was expelled from the CLC in April, 1960, for raiding another CLC affiliate, the National Association of Marine Engineers—now part of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers CLC.

The Pentagon at Washington, world's largest office building, was completed in 1943 at a cost of $83,000,000.

during the last nine months on the certification fight between the SIU and three rival unions, the National Association of Marine Engineers, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, all affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress.

The dispute took a startling turn June 15 when two former SIU officers—John J. Wood, director of the SIU's licensed division, from October, 1958, to April, 1961, and Michael J. Sheehan, SIU organizer from 1949 to November, 1960—gave sworn testimony of SIU actions to take over the engineers.

The board concluded "that the evidence of Mr. Wood and Mr. Sheehan is to be preferred to that of the witnesses for the SIU," said the judgment.

The board found that the SIU never obtained membership applications from the engineers of five of the shipping companies, although union dues were obtained by checkoff for some of the companies by means of designation cards signed by engineers.

"Evidence as to the destruction of application-for-membership forms was false and was given for the purpose of misleading the board, and the board was in fact misled."

The engineers on the five companies never paid union initiation fees to the SIU, the board said.

INJURED CLIMBER DESCRIBES ORDEAL

The 'Shakes' Kept Him Warm

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—When Gordon Crocker tucked his battered six-foot, three-inch frame into a tiny hole near the top of 9,600-foot Mount Blane and tied himself down, he was ready to give up mountain climbing for ever.

That was his first thought after falling about 70 feet while climbing the mountain Saturday. Tuesday night he had some second thoughts as he rested in hospital after a dramatic three-day rescue.

His body was covered with cuts and bruises. One ankle was fractured, the other badly bruised.

The 29-year-old Calgary geologist, a mountain-climber for seven years, said he and Dieter Robach of Calgary had picked Mount Blane because it was a difficult climb—it had a 70-degree slope. Speaking from his hospital bed, he chronicled the accident and rescue.

"We started at 8 a.m. Saturday to climb the west face, a new route. We were about 30 feet from the top when I slipped. Dieter, who was leading, was standing on a ledge about 20 feet above with the rope around his neck while I was attempting to climb an almost vertical wall with his help.

BOTH FALL

Dieter couldn't hold me when I slipped. I dropped about 10 feet. He suffered extensive rope burns to his hands and neck. One piton pulled away, but a second held both of us. The drop would have been several hundred feet.

I stopped in a vertical position. I had to climb up a few feet to take the strain off the rope. Dieter came down to where I was and then I lowered myself into a niche in a rock. It was 2½ feet wide and 10 feet deep.

Killed by Lightning

SELFREDGE, N.D. (AP)—A farm boy and the horse he was riding to bring in the cows from pasture were both killed Tuesday night when struck by a lightning bolt.

Dieter treated my cuts from a first aid kit. A cut on my head bled heavily but . . . the bleeding stopped after a while.

It was dusk when Dieter left for help. He left his sweater, I had a ham sandwich, a chocolate bar and some hard candy. I was not hungry but I ate the sandwich. I was thirsty but had nothing to drink.

SUFFERS FROM SHAKES

The temperature dropped to about 40 during the night. I felt no pain but had the shakes—I guess they helped me keep warm.

When I settled down, my first thought was to give up mountain climbing. I later modified that stand; I think I'll climb easier mountains from now on. This was the first time I had been in trouble in seven years of climbing.

I slept in short periods while Dieter made his way to get help. He slept on the mountain that night and got help Sunday morning.

It was noon Sunday when I heard a helicopter. Dieter started up the mountain to show the route to Walter (chief warden) Walter Perren, mountain-climbing instructor for Banff National Park.

Dieter brought up sleeping bags and food and stayed the night. It was very crowded in the small hole. The weather was much colder than the first night.

PANTS WEAR OUT

At noon Monday a rescue party reached me. I started down, tied to Walter and Banff guide Hans Gmoser. I slid down through the steep gullies on the seat of my pants. It didn't bother my sore legs, but my seat became sore after my pants wore out. In two places it was necessary to carry me in a harness because of rock conditions.

Near the end of the day I made a 75-foot rope descent from an overhang. The rescue team tied a second rope to me for safety.

We stopped for the night at the 8,300-foot level. Warden Ed Carlton stayed with me while the rest of the party returned to base camp.

The rescue party returned early Tuesday with a basket stretcher. My legs were too tired to stand and the slope at this point was not steep enough for sliding. There was also loose rock.

I was tied into the basket and lowered gradually.

I reached the specially-constructed helicopter platform at 6,500 feet—timberline on the mountain—where I was flown to a nearby forestry road. The rest of the rescue team was airlifted out before I was flown to hospital in Banff by helicopter.

D'ARCY APPEAL HEARING

'Not Machine,' Teacher States

A Colquitz Junior High School instructor, appealing his discharge, Tuesday night told a board of reference that he did not think he should be a teaching machine.

ANN KIERNAN
... a face scratcher

Capt. Geoffrey D'Arcy was testifying in his own defence against a dismissal which followed a conflict with superiors over teaching methods.

Under cross-examination, he said none of his superiors tried to prove his methods were wrong.

"If I am prepared to act merely as a machine and subject my students to exposures I feel to be evil, then I have no right to stand before a class," he said.

"You are right and everybody else is wrong?" asked school board counsel W. H. M. Haldane.

"I never said that," replied Mr. D'Arcy. Earlier, Mr. Haldane protested that he could not get a yes or no answer from Mr. D'Arcy on whether he had any hesitation in automatically obeying orders in the army.

ORDER TO OBEY

Asked if he considered a directive from his school superiors as an order to obey, he said:

"As suggested in the Chant royal commission, there is a terrible responsibility at all levels from the classroom teacher up to analyze teaching procedure."

"I have no right to mechanically enforce on my students (a directive) unless I feel it is right. It is not my right so much as my responsibility."

"Every man has the moral right and the moral responsibility to make that judgment."

NO PARALLEL

"There is no parallel between the military organization in a physical fight for existence and education where the problem is molding and guidance of future generations."

Earlier, Capt. D'Arcy said his method of disciplining problem students — "exiling" them from class until they volunteered to improve — had "worked exceedingly well."

He said early in his career he frequently used the strap for discipline but finally came to the conclusion that punishment was a negative factor.

"It's so long since I have had a strap in my hand I cannot remember when it was."

"Instead of punishing, I have tried to instill in my students the belief that there can be no hope for the future unless they have an insatiable appetite for knowledge."

The hearing will resume Friday for presentation of any further testimony and lawyers' summations. Decision of the three-member board will be sent to the provincial cabinet in the form of a recommendation.

The cabinet, constituted as the council of public instruction, will decide whether or not the dismissal will be upheld or revoked.

Patient Kills Wife of Psychiatrist

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty young school teacher, convinced that a psychiatrist was telling everyone of her irresistible urge to scratch her face, was charged today with shooting his attractive wife to death.

The victim, Mrs. Paula A. Laverne, 27, was shot twice Tuesday as she clutched her two-year-old daughter in the lobby of a fashionable Fifth Avenue apartment house. Her two sons, aged four and six, screamed while the family dog — a Great Dane — ran away in fear.

Mrs. Laverne, who recently completed her internship as a physician, died at Mount Sinai Hospital next door.

Almost at the moment the woman died, Ann Mitzi Kiernan, 26, walked into a police station and announced: "I just shot somebody."

SOUGHT APPOINTMENT

Miss Kiernan, of Mountain Lakes, N.J., until recently a high school teacher, had telephoned the victim's husband, Dr. Albert Laverne, earlier in the day demanding an appointment.

The physician said he told her that his heavy schedule made it impossible to see her at once. He said she became so angry that he telephoned his wife and warned her not to see the woman if she came to the apartment.

But police said Miss Kiernan went to the apartment house thinking that Dr. Laverne's office was there. Told he was not in, she waited in the lobby.

Member Of Pioneer Family Dead

Prominent newspaperwoman and member of a pioneer Victoria family, Diana Ogilvie Irving, died in Vancouver on Monday. She was 66.

Daughter of the late Hon. Mr. Justice Paulus Aemilius Irving of the B.C. Appeal Court, Mrs. Irving was the granddaughter of Hon. Wyndham K. Hamley, first collector of customs for the Crown colony of British Columbia.

Born in the Irving family home on Cook Street, she attended school here and in Vancouver, later going to England to complete her education.

A former women's editor of the Daily Colonist, she left Victoria in 1944 to take up the position of magazine editor for The Province in Vancouver, and continued to write for that newspaper until she fell ill last February.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Frank Pinder of Vancouver; a brother, Edward Bruce Irving of Victoria; and many nephews and nieces.

Arctic Ice Kept Record Of Fallout

OTTAWA (CP)—A record of radioactive fallout from the 1945 atomic raids on Hiroshima and Nagasaki is believed to have been found embedded in an icecap in northern Ellesmere Island, Canada's most northerly territory.

Glaciologist Dr. Geoffrey Hattersley-Smith of the Defence Research Board said Monday he took ice samples from a 50-foot hole he dug in the icecap, melted them and sent them to the atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont., for analysis.

He said in an interview he believes the sample of the 1944-45 snowfall will show the density of fallout from the atomic blasts over the two Japanese cities near the end of the Second World War.

THERE WAS NO DOUBT about who won this fight between man and bull at Bilbao, Spain. Matador Juan Garcia Mondeno was tossed right out of the ring and suffered a fractured wrist. He'll be out of action at least a month.

Attacks on Police Mounting Hoover Warns Conference

NEW YORK (AP)—An alarming increase in mob attacks on police is shown in a survey of cities across the United States.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, took note of the situation at a recent meeting of the FBI National Academy in Washington.

He told 80 police officers and officials from the United States and Canada there has been "a mounting wave of civilian attacks on police in the performance of their duties."

Conditions necessitate "continuing training of the type made available by the FBI so that police everywhere will be better equipped to cope with the rampaging forces of lawlessness."

In New York City alone 1,171 policemen have been attacked in the first six months of this year while trying to make arrests.

The figures alarm police officials, particularly because of an increasing public participation in the attacks.

OTHER CITIES SIMILAR

The Philadelphia police department reported 1,805 policemen were hurt intentionally in the performance of their duties from January to October, 1960. Fifty-seven of them later were pronounced unfit for further duty. The number of such attacks was reported to have increased alarmingly.

Los Angeles officials reported 100 aggravated assaults on police and 109 cases of simple assault and battery during the first seven months of this year.

Atlantic Gale Buffets Liner

GLASGOW (UPI)—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of England docked on the River Clyde today after plowing through a gale and heavy seas 130 miles west of Scotland Tuesday.

A spokesman said one woman suffered a broken arm and other passengers were treated for bruises and seasickness in the heavy weather. Waves broke over the bows of the liner during the rough stretch.

Industrial disputes in Great Britain during 1959 caused the loss of 5,270,000 working days.

Gambling Probe Witness Threatened With Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating race wires betting heard testimony Tuesday about a mystery death threat attempt to silence one witness and intimidation that goaded another into trying to commit suicide.

Harry F. Gorman, who described himself as a retired Indianapolis race wire operator, said he had received several anonymous telephone calls and his wife received one. Death threats were made during these calls, he said.

Gorman gave the Senate investigations subcommittee a detailed account of the race wire service he operated a year ago. He said he charged his subscribers $40 to $60 a week and believed all were book-makers.

REFUSES TO ANSWER

Another witness Tuesday, the head of a big Chicago race wire service, refused to answer when asked if he had goaded an employee into trying to commit suicide because the man wanted to testify freely before the subcommittee but feared to do so.

Thomas S. Kelly Sr. told the Senate investigations subcommittee that to answer this—or almost any question about his business—might tend to incriminate him.

Witnesses said Kelly's organization has interests in racing information services in centres as far apart as Toronto and San Francisco.

Department Store Heads Back Parking Garage Plan

Spokesmen for Victoria's two largest department stores and a U.S. mayor have backed city council's decision to build two off-street parking garages downtown.

Some 220 downtown rate-payers are eligible to vote on the $1,115,000 scheme at the city clerk's office Thursday.

Mayor W. F. Duckworth, of Norfolk, Va., visiting Mayor Percy Scourah, said downtown property owners should approve the bylaw, "otherwise they will lose customers to shopping centres."

He said his own city has spent $1,500,000 to provide surface parking for 7,500 cars.

T. Allan Leith, manager of the T. Eaton Co., and Howard McKay, manager of Hudson's Bay Co., both praised the parking plan.

Both stores have their own parking garages but only Eaton's will be involved in Thursday's vote.

"Anything that makes the downtown strong, we are in favor of it," said Mr. Leith.

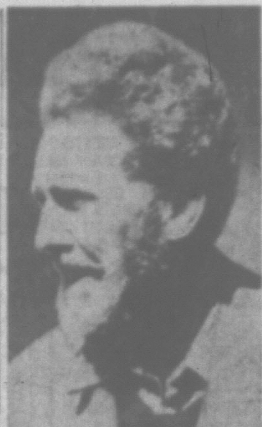

"We certainly feel it is a good thing for downtown and for the whole city," said Mr. McKay.

VOTE ATTACKED

But Ald. Michael Griffin attacked the method of voting which gives one ballot to each property owner regardless of his assessment.

"The T. Eaton Co., with a $1,123,450 investment in the city's downtown area, has only one vote in tomorrow's area vote," said Ald. Griffin. "But eight people who between them own a $7,575 property in the same area have one vote each."

He said he would try to introduce a resolution from the floor at next month's Union of B.C. Municipalities convention to seek amendment of the Municipal Act eliminating the situation.

He returned to Italy in 1958.

Ferry Revenues Rise 50 Per Cent

A 50 per cent increase in revenue for the government's ferry service in the last two months was reported Tuesday by Premier Bennett.

He said the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries brought in 50 per cent more in July than July 1960, and the same increase was indicated for August.

This proves that last year's good revenues were not luck. The premier earlier had said the ferries showed an $800,000 profit for their first 9 1/2 months of operation. A figure for the year ending June 15 has not been released.

Sugar Ray Signs To Meet Greaves

DETROIT (AP) — Former middleweight champion Ray Robinson signed today to fight Wilkie Greaves in Detroit's new Convention Arena Sept. 25.

Robinson, 41, will be returning to his native city to fight for the first time in several years. The old champion still is hopeful of getting one more crack at the crown he held five times.

Greaves, 25, holds the Canadian middleweight title. He is a native of Edmonton, but currently fights out of Detroit.

Belgian Officers Take Refuge

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — United Nations troops armed with machine-guns surrounded the Belgian consulate here today as the deadline neared for the surrender of white officers serving in the armed forces of breakaway Katanga province of the Congo.

Some 100 former Belgian officers in the Katangan armed forces sought refuge at the consulate after the UN began arresting the white officers and ordering their deportation.

The Belgian consulate has said it will grant the Belgian officers refuge until two planes arrive to repatriate them, despite a UN ultimatum issued Tuesday night that they must surrender by tonight.

centre, while Indian, Swedish and Irish UN troops patrolled below.

Conor O'Brien, of Ireland, their command of Katanga's armed forces.

AA (Uncut Class)
BB (Worthwhile)

B (For Rainy Days)

A (Don't Miss)
C (To Put in Time)

(A) "THE ANGRY SILENCE" (Odson): At first glances and first thoughts the English-made "The Angry Silence" evolves as nothing more than a drama about labor troubles in a tool and machine works factory situated in a small British town.

In fact, pro management patrons may see in it something dark and sinister while union factions, on the other hand, may well claim that it is an indictment against labor.

Those of both sides, however, given time to digest the film's very real and earnest message, will see in "The Angry Silence" neither of these but a skillfully produced cry against the dangers of mob-mind or conformity in this assembly line world of ours that is in danger of producing mass-produced mentalities.

Hero of the piece is the "ordinary man" represented by Richard Attenborough. Indeed he is so ordinary that it hurts. Although chafing a bit at monetary troubles besetting his life with wife Pier Angeli and their two children and rather upset that a third young'un is on the way, Attenborough is generally content as he plays for the company soccer team, watches tele and tries his luck with the football pools.

Then one day a wildcat strike is called and Attenborough, falling to see the sense in it, decides to stick to his post along with about a dozen others.

The retaliation by union members against these "scabs" is quick to follow. Stones are heaved through windows, there are threats and beatings-up and, eventually, all the holdouts decide to join their erstwhile chums on the picket lines.

The exception is Attenborough who continues to report to work even though he doesn't know exactly why except, as he tells his wife, in essence: "If a bloke has to think exactly like the other bloke then there isn't much sense to living at all."

Bryan Forbes' screenplay is terse and to the point, with the direction brilliantly eloquent. Attenborough is unforgettable as "the ordinary bloke" and receives understanding support from Miss Angeli, a most capable actress; Michael Craig as his best pal; Bernard Lee as the shop steward—in fact from each of the capable cast.

B.C. Airlines Shares Profits With Pilots

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER—B.C. Airlines pilots will get a share of the company's profits in a contract settlement reached Tuesday night.

The company's 23 pilots had demanded additional time off and a $50-a-month pay increase over two years.

B.C. Airlines said agreement was reached on one additional day off every other week and "an unprecedented arrangement in which the pilots will share in 10 per cent of the company's profits before taxes".

"The company feels that by sharing profits with its pilot employees it has entered a new phase of labor negotiations," the company said.

CAN'T AFFORD IT

VANCOUVER — Alderman Bill Street said today he's quitting civic politics because he can't afford to be an alderman.

The 39-year-old lawyer said he had to make a decision—abandon his law practice or abandon the city council. He decided on the latter and will not seek re-election in the December civic poll because it was impossible to live on the $3,000-a-year stipend paid aldermen.

Mr. Street said the city will either have to pay a "living wage" to its aldermen to attract qualified candidates who can work full time, or pay nothing and hope for the best.

BOY DIES ON BOAT

OCEAN FALLS—A North Surrey boy was burned to death Monday when a 35-foot fish packer burned and sank in Shearwater Bay near here. The victim was 15-year-old Russell Robertson.

A small gas stove is believed to have ignited fumes aboard the Port Eslington 3. Ocean Falls is 320 miles northwest of Vancouver.

MEETING PUT OFF

PENTICTON — Okanagan and Kootenay Valley municipalities have deferred plans for a meeting with Premier Bennett and his cabinet on the government's proposal to put the West Kootenay Power and Light Company under public ownership.

The municipalities had planned to appear before the cabinet to oppose the takeover of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company-owned power utility which serves their communities, but prior commitments by the government forced a deferment.

Instead the individual municipalities are to submit written representations to the government. A joint submission is being prepared by a committee appointed last week at a meeting of mayors and reeves here.

The New Brunswick government had paid $425,245 in bounties on black bears and bobcats up to March 31, 1960.

50,000-Man Hike For Armed Forces

81 RESCUED IN ALPS; AIR FORCE PROBE HELD

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—The pilot of a French jet fighter plane which sliced through the cable of an alpine aerial tramway Tuesday appeared today before an air force board of inquiry.

His plane was being examined by air force authorities. It was not known whether charges are planned against the pilot, identified only as Capt. Ziegler.

Commons Must Give Approval

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (UPI)—Against the background of the Berlin crisis, the government will propose to Parliament when it meets next week that the ceiling on the Canadian armed forces be raised from 120,000 to 170,000, it was learned here today.

Cost of the expansion, which is the major new proposal readied by the government for next Thursday's resumed session of the House of Commons was estimated at $300,000,000.

Sources said that cabinet approved the policy during a recent absence on brief holidays of Finance Minister Fleming, whose hopes for an eventually balanced budget are directly involved in the decision.

Official announcement of the decision will not be made until next week's reassembly of Parliament, since Commons approval will be necessary for the proposal and for the funds to carry it into effect, sources said.

During the past two weeks the cabinet has been in almost daily session. Prime Minister Diefenbaker repeatedly told newsmen the Berlin crisis and the international situation generally have formed the main topics of consideration during these sessions.

AID FOR NATO

Diefenbaker also had indicated in general terms that Canada might increase its military contribution to NATO in light of the growing threat of the international situation.

He stopped short, however, of disclosing the extent of the contemplated expansion on grounds such details should be the subject of an announcement to Parliament.

Major importance is said to be attached by the government to its belief that its example of voluntarily increasing Canada's military expenditures beyond its present commitments will stimulate other NATO countries to more intensive efforts.

More Wheat Sold
To Chinese Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale was confirmed today of 6,000,000 bushels more wheat to Red China—for shipment by the end of September from St. Lawrence River ports.

It has been reported that the wheat is bound for East Germany since Red China purchases normally take the shorter route via the west coast. (See Page 9.)

Meat Packing Combine Hit

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal anti-combines report today cited Canada Packers Limited the country's biggest meat packing firm, as having bought out two independent companies in order to reduce competition on the Calgary and Montreal livestock markets.

The Restrictive Trade Practices Commission advised Justice Minister Fulton to seek a court order breaking up the 1955 merger of Calgary Packers Limited and Whill Limited of Montreal with Canada Packers or, failing that, an order preventing the Toronto-based firm from taking over other packers.

Mr. Fulton in an accompanying statement made no commitment beyond saying the "usual consideration" would be given to the commission's report, which followed allegations made by the justice department's investigators in July, 1959.

W. F. McLean, Canada Packers president, said in a statement that since company lawyers had received only one copy of the 450-page report he had not been able to study it in detail.

"I have, however, read the commission's appraisal of the evidence and its conclusions, which appear to be, as I expected, that the operations of this all-Canadian company have been in accordance with the law."

APPLIES NEW LAW

The action recommended by the commission would, if taken by the minister, make the first use of legislation passed last year under which the government can seek a court order in such cases without requiring a formal conviction and the resulting fine or imprisonment.

Doubt was expressed by the commission of the value of a formal charge against Canada Packers under the pre-1960 law.

It noted that court judgments in the Canadian Breweries and B.C. Sugar cases last year restricted the old law to virtual monopolies over the whole business—which is not the case with Canada Packers.

"It does not appear to the commission that the public interest will be best served if the disappearance of independent firms in an industry already highly concentrated proceeds unchecked," today's report said.

The commission said that because of concentration in the industry and Canada Packers' "market power," the 1955 merger was "likely to lessen competition in the industry in a substantial way and so deprive the public of the benefits of the competition which otherwise would prevail."

The collision was blamed on fog.

Ships Bump
In Fog
On River

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—The 22,000-ton Cunard liner Carinthia and 5,000-ton cruise ship Tadoussac collided in the fog-shrouded St. Lawrence River about 30 miles from here early today.

A spokesman for the Cunard line said the Carinthia, bound from Britain to Montreal with 871 passengers and a crew of 450, received "no apparent damage" apart from scratches on its port bow.

The mostly-wooden Tadoussac, carrying 200 passengers and 180 crew, was extensively damaged as the liner's steel prow tore along its upper deck.

Officials of Cunard and of Canada Steamship Lines which operates the Tadoussac, said nobody aboard either ship was injured and most of the passengers slept through the incident which occurred at 4 a.m. EDT.

Military Leaders Defied
By Brazilian Congress

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A demand by Brazil's military chiefs for a constitutional amendment blocking vice-president Joao Goulart from the presidency was flatly rejected in congress today and the nation appeared to edge closer to civil war.

Gen. Jose Machado Lopes, leader of the powerful Third Army in southern Brazil, refused an order relieving him of his command, according to radio broadcasts from Porto Alegre.

Goulart, meanwhile, departed by plane from Paris today for New York, en route to Brazil.

In Brazil, the capital, a 16-man committee representing both houses of congress, rejected a request by military leaders for a proposed constitutional amendment aimed against Goulart.

The committee announced it was entirely for Goulart and in effect challenged the military leaders to close Congress.

Former president Kubitschek said he was "very pessimistic" about the chances for avoiding civil war.

Kubitschek, now a senator, said in Brasilia that he had conferred with War Minister Odilio Denys in an effort to persuade him to lift his ban on Goulart's return but that Denys had refused.

"Once the military men get worked up it's impossible to stop them," Kubitschek said.

The ex-chief executive reiterated his support for Goulart.

The order removing Lopes was believed prompted by Denys in an effort to break opposition among some segments of the armed forces to his anti-Goulart stand.

'Downstream Power Sales Essential'

Peace for Home Consumption, Columbia for Americans

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett's hydro-electric power policy for B.C. is the Peace River for home consumption only, the Columbia for the Americans.

$40,000 For Shrum

A $40,000-a-year salary will be paid Dr. Gordon Shrum as chairman and president of the new publicly-owned B.C. Electric Company, Premier Bennett announced today.

He gave pay and posts for all six directors of the new company, effective Sept. 1.

All are believed considerably below the salaries paid to officers of the old privately-owned company.

It is reported that Dr. A. E. Grauer received about $30,000 a year when he was chairman.

Second highest paid man in the new company is Dr. H. L. Purdy, former B.C.E. president, who now is vice-president in charge of operations. He will get $35,000 a year, but is not on the board of directors.

Gunderson: $27,500.

Elmar M. Gunderson, a director and vice-president in charge of finance, will receive a total salary of $27,500.

William C. Mearns, director and vice-president in charge of development, will get the same.

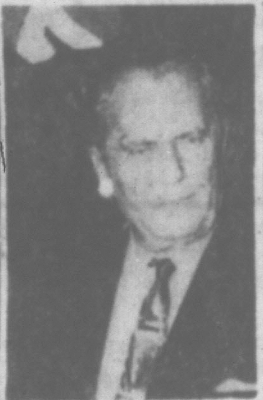

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, appointed deputy chairman of the board, will receive no extra pay. He gets $17,500 a year as a cabinet minister.

The other two directors, Hon. Frank M. Ross and lawyer Arthur Fouks, will receive only directors fees of $2,500 a year.

Mr. Gunderson will also lose his salary as vice-president of the PGE Railway. But the premier said it was not as much as he will receive from the B.C. Electric.

Charges Dismissed

TORONTO (CP)—Magistrate Donald Graham today dismissed charges against the bomb campaigner Douglas Campbell and said he was exercising a "fundamental freedom" in speaking in a Toronto park.

DELEGATES began arriving in Belgrade today for Friday's opening of the conference of uncommitted nations and were welcomed at the airport by Yugoslavian President Marshal Tito.

$10 MILLION PROGRAM

Building Sparks Jobs for Winter

Times Business Editor

Sparked by a tremendous surge in new apartment and housing building, Greater Victoria is entering the winter construction season with a program estimated by the various municipalities today to total $10 million or better.

In the city of Victoria alone, projects in sight for the next six months total well over the $6 million mark. It could go over $8 million, a city official said, with approval of the $1,115,000 downtown parking plan to be voted on Thursday, along with several other deals which are in preliminary stages of negotiation.

Long-term prospects for construction in the Victoria area also look good with several multi-million dollar projects already in view.

MARINE SERVICE

Largest of these is the federal transport plan to put up a $2,500,000 marine service headquarters next to the CPR terminal. Funds for this building are to be appropriated next spring and construction could get underway any time after that.

Another big federal transport department job will be construction of a new Patricia Bay airport terminal and runway extensions totalling $1,500,000 and slated for completion before next summer.

Greater Victoria school construction, beginning this year and stretching over three years, will also help to keep the industry busy in the future.

A money bylaw to be submitted soon could run as high as $3 million for school building.

Four large apartment blocks in the Victoria area, three of them with price tags of about $1 million and the other costing over $600,000, will be well under way by late this fall.

APARTMENT BLOCKS

Two of the million-dollar blocks are going up in Victoria, one on Rockland and the other in James Bay, while the third is the Garden City block under construction in Saanich. The $600,000 apartment is a six-storey plus penthouse building planned in Oak Bay.

In addition to residential construction, several industrial projects are known to be in the negotiation stages now,

Cuban Ship Hijacked To Jamaica

NEW YORK (AP)—Passengers aboard a Cuban coastal ship, armed with pistols and spearguns, took over the vessel and forced its captain to put into Jamaica today, the National Broadcasting Company reported.

The report, by John Hlavacek, NBC correspondent in Jamaica, said 29 of the 30 passengers asked asylum.

He said the report came from the captain after the ship arrived at Port Antonio, a Jamaica seaport.

The name of the captain, and the ship, and other details, were not available immediately.

while the largest single industrial installation this year, additions to the $1,500,000 Victoria Machinery Depot division on Bay Street, will be completed this fall.

MOTOR HOTEL

There is also understood to be at least one large new motor hotel under consideration in the city to add to tourist accommodation facilities.

Tourist accommodation will already be increased by better than 150 rooms with completion of the Imperial Motel soon along with the recently opened Tally Ho Hotel.

Among other larger projects in the Victoria area now under construction or planned are:

Saanich public safety building, $250,000; Capital Improvement District Commission's Douglas Street beautification plan, $125,000; Salvation Army's Matson Lodge, $750,000; Victoria Building Co-op Labor Hall, $150,000; Oak Bay Marina, $100,000 or more; B.C. Telephone facilities and offices, $100,000 or more.

OL' VIC SAYS:

Mister Bennett seems t' be changin' horsepower in mid-downstream.

Them mills ought t' use white smoke durin' th' day an' save th' black smoke fer nighttime.

Well, gittin' a bigger army's one way t' chaw down th' unemployed.

Red China, Mexico, Ready To Release Silver Hoards

Times Business Editor

While most investment advisers in this country and the U.S. have been freely predicting a rise in the price of silver—sending futures up and boosting silver mining stocks—there are a few voices still proclaiming that a higher silver price is not necessarily a certainty.

Even if the U.S. Treasury runs out of non-monetized silver stocks, there is still plenty of the precious metal hidden in odd places which could come on the market and prevent any great rise in price.

One silver expert, Joseph Daniels of Seattle, a member of the U.S. "Silver Committee" which has been fighting to keep paper money backed by gold and silver, has sent along a number of documents giving the other side of the current silver controversy.

One of the most interesting pieces of evidence is a statement by Judson C. Travis, president of Handy and Harmon of New York, who recently called for repeal of all U.S. silver legislation and creation of a free market in silver.

The position of Mr. Travis' firm is: "We're willing to risk a rise in silver prices if the producers will also take the risk that they will go down."

Industrial Employment Up in June

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's composite index of industrial employment rose 3.2 per cent to 121 in June from 117.2 in May, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

The index, set at a 1949 base of 100, was down 1.6 per cent from 123 in June last year.

The bureau said the June rise this year was the second straight climb for the index. It rose at a rate larger than seasonal.

Average weekly wages and salaries in June rose to $78.59 from $78 in May and $75.74 in June, 1960.

Among utilities, Bell Telephone, B.C. Telephone, Shawinigan, Calgary Power and International Utilities gained in a long range, while among oil, Canadian Oil, Canadian Husky, Imperial and Royal Oil rose as much as 75 cents.

No one group was decidedly behind and small losses were scattered across the board. Distillers Seagrams dropped 1/2, as did Page-Hersey and Guaranty Trust.

Motors paced an advance today on the New York stock market. Rails bolstered the upswing of industrials. Ford about two points, General Motors and Chrysler were also up.

AT TORONTO gold trading was generally light but was sparked by McIntyre Porcupine's 1 1/2-point rise to 44 1/2. Campbell Red Lake and Giant Yellowknife advanced 1/2 and 1/4, respectively.

The base metals market had gains going to Campbell Chibougamau, Consolidated Mining & Smelting and International Nickel in the senior list.

Western oil trading was weak with Calgary and Edmonton, Home A and B and Dome all up a few cents.

AT NEW YORK McIntyre Porcupine was up 1 1/2, among the Canadian issues listed, Canadian Pacific advanced 1/2, International Nickel 1/4, Aluminum Ltd. and Granby Mining 1/4. Hudson Bay Mining was down 1/4, and Distillers Seagrams 1/2.

American exchange prices were mostly higher in moderate trading. Sapphire Petroleum advanced 1-1/2 and Eureka 1-3/4 Canadian.

Subsidies Proposed For Railways

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended direct federal subsidies for the bankrupt New York, New Haven and Hartford and other railroads to help them maintain essential passenger services.

The recommendation reversed the commission's long-time position against federal grants in the transportation field.

The commission made its recommendation in connection with an investigation of the New Haven's financial plight.

In its report today, the ICC said it is "highly improbable that the New Haven can emerge from reorganization and continue to render essential transportation services in the absence of direct federal grants."

U.S. Employment Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment in the United States hit an August record of 68,539,000 but the jobless rate remained unimproved at 6.9 per cent of the labor force.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, releasing the August job figures at a press conference, said he was encouraged by some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed.

National Vending Takes Over Famaco

He said the company now has almost 1,000 vending machines throughout the country.

Industrial Employment Up in June

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's composite index of industrial employment rose 3.2 per cent to 121 in June from 117.2 in May, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

The index, set at a 1949 base of 100, was down 1.6 per cent from 123 in June last year.

The bureau said the June rise this year was the second straight climb for the index. It rose at a rate larger than seasonal.

Average weekly wages and salaries in June rose to $78.59 from $78 in May and $75.74 in June, 1960.

Among utilities, Bell Telephone, B.C. Telephone, Shawinigan, Calgary Power and International Utilities gained in a long range, while among oil, Canadian Oil, Canadian Husky, Imperial and Royal Oil rose as much as 75 cents.

No one group was decidedly behind and small losses were scattered across the board. Distillers Seagrams dropped 1/2, as did Page-Hersey and Guaranty Trust.

Motors paced an advance today on the New York stock market. Rails bolstered the upswing of industrials. Ford about two points, General Motors and Chrysler were also up.

AT TORONTO gold trading was generally light but was sparked by McIntyre Porcupine's 1 1/2-point rise to 44 1/2. Campbell Red Lake and Giant Yellowknife advanced 1/2 and 1/4, respectively.

The base metals market had gains going to Campbell Chibougamau, Consolidated Mining & Smelting and International Nickel in the senior list.

Western oil trading was weak with Calgary and Edmonton, Home A and B and Dome all up a few cents.

AT NEW YORK McIntyre Porcupine was up 1 1/2, among the Canadian issues listed, Canadian Pacific advanced 1/2, International Nickel 1/4, Aluminum Ltd. and Granby Mining 1/4. Hudson Bay Mining was down 1/4, and Distillers Seagrams 1/2.

American exchange prices were mostly higher in moderate trading. Sapphire Petroleum advanced 1-1/2 and Eureka 1-3/4 Canadian.

Subsidies Proposed For Railways

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended direct federal subsidies for the bankrupt New York, New Haven and Hartford and other railroads to help them maintain essential passenger services.

The recommendation reversed the commission's long-time position against federal grants in the transportation field.

The commission made its recommendation in connection with an investigation of the New Haven's financial plight.

In its report today, the ICC said it is "highly improbable that the New Haven can emerge from reorganization and continue to render essential transportation services in the absence of direct federal grants."

U.S. Employment Sets Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment in the United States hit an August record of 68,539,000 but the jobless rate remained unimproved at 6.9 per cent of the labor force.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, releasing the August job figures at a press conference, said he was encouraged by some reduction in the number of long-term unemployed.

National Vending Takes Over Famaco

TORONTO (CP)—Albert Siegel, president of National Automatic Vending Company Ltd., has announced his company has acquired Famaco Vending Ltd. and Famaco Wholesale, making National the largest cigarette vendor in Canada.

He said the company now has almost 1,000 vending machines throughout the country.

GUESTS FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

Pioneers of 1887 Sought By Centennial Planners

Victoria's centennial committee today opened a hunt for the names of all living pioneers who were in this area in 1887 or before.

"The year 1887 has been selected because that was Victoria's 25th birthday and it means all the pioneers were here during next year's centenary will be 75 years of age or older," said sub-committee chairman James K. Nesbitt.

Mr. Nesbitt asked all pioneers to send in their names to City Hall. He also asked anyone knowing of a pioneer now living elsewhere to send in his or her name too.

"The deadline will have to be Dec. 31 because there will be a tremendous amount of work cataloguing all the names."

Tentative plans are being made to have a gala birthday party for the pioneers at the Empress Hotel late in May.

The oldest man and woman in the group will be crowned King and Queen of the Pioneers.

All pioneers will be honor guests at centennial celebrations during 1962.

Mr. Nesbitt said pioneers do not have to be born here or living here now to be eligible.

"So long as they were in the Greater Victoria area in 1887 or before, we want their names."

Assisting Mr. Nesbitt are Inez Mitchell and K. C. Drury.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The weather disturbance giving cloud over Victoria may drop some rain here tonight, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"We're not alone in this dull weather," he said. "The cloud reaches from the Queen Charlottes to Seattle, and inland as far as Trail."

He predicted partial clearing for Thursday, but another weather system heading this way may give rain that night," he said.

Winds Thursday will be up to 20 miles per hour and gusty from the southwest, and temperatures will range between 52 and 65 degrees.

Regular meeting of the CNR Veterans' Association will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Cormorant Street.

Starting on Tuesday, the British Israel Association's book room and library at 738 Fort Street will be open on week days from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., closing on Wednesdays at 1 p.m.

Weekly meetings of the association will start Sept. 12.

Kenneth Briggs, 50, of 1091 San Marina, was admitted for observation at St. Joseph's Hospital after the car he was driving was in collision with another auto at Blanshard and Humboldt at 8:57 p.m. Tuesday.

His forehead was cut and he was shaken up when his car crashed with one driven by Herbert Wright, 1435 Mitchell.

First theft from a provincial government campaign in this area was reported Tuesday night to Sidney RCMP.

Los Angeles campers Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morris told police they were away from their McDonald Campsite tent until 5:30 p.m., and when they returned a three-burner gas stove valued at $25 was missing.

Chamber of Commerce Moves to Bank Building

Arrangements were completed today for lease of office space on the second floor of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, the organization's manager, John Coppinger, announced today.

Several thousand dollars' worth of renovations will be undertaken by the bank before the chamber moves in Sept. 15.

The chamber has rented office space in the second floor of the Black Ball Ferry building for more than 12 years but this space is being taken over, it is understood, by a restaurant business.

The bank premises, Mr. Coppinger said, were judged by a chamber committee to be the most suitable of a great number of locations considered.

The space will be leased for the same rent now being paid in the Black Ball building.

Several organizations which were sub-tenants of the chamber in the old location have found new quarters.

The Rotary Club has taken office space in the Empress Hotel and the Victoria Building Industries Exchange has located at 543 Bastion. The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria Safety Council, however, will move to the new office above the bank.

THE OLD BRICK BUILDING AIN'T WHAT SHE USED TO BE

This Can't Be the Empress! Really?

By NORMAN CHIBBENS

Is the character of the Empress Hotel changing?

Women in shorts and slacks are now a familiar sight around the stately lobby and people wearing dressing gowns over their swimsuits may be seen walking across to the Crystal Garden.

The new Motor Lodge on the Humboldt Street side of the hotel is held responsible for the change in Empress fashions.

But Cyril Chapman, manager, insists the standards of gracious living for which the hotel is world famous have not been affected by the lodge.

"This type of accommodation is intended for travelling

holiday makers and we expect them to dress more informally. All the hotel facilities are available to them, so it is natural that people in holiday attire should be seen in the lobby.

Catering Standards

"But when they use the main dining room they dress more formally and our standards of catering and service have not been affected in any way."

What do the guests think? "Well," said a businessman from Vancouver who has been using the hotel for more than 20 years, "I must say it shocks me to see women in shorts and slacks wandering around the lounge.

"It just doesn't go with the atmosphere of the place. This is one of the most dignified hotels in the world and I wouldn't be seen dead around here in shorts."

Mrs. Lucille Juntan, a visitor from Saskatoon, thinks the Empress has changed for the better.

"It is more alive than it used to be," she said. "There are more young people—not so many old colonels and lady old ladies—more of a cosmopolitan atmosphere."

"Yes, I think the Motor Lodge has improved the old place."

Three women in shorts and two wearing slacks were seen at the cigar stand opposite the hotel's reception desk this morning. They attracted little attention, although some 30 other women in their vicinity wore summery dresses.

No Evening Dress

"I must admit it takes a bit of getting used to," remarked a veteran member of the staff. "I can remember the day when most of our guests wore evening dress after 6 p.m. But customs and fashions are changing everywhere and the Empress has to move with the times."

Some local residents deplore the introduction of motel accommodation at the Empress, but people in the tourist trade regard it as an outstanding success.

The Motor Lodge has been booked solid ever since it opened on Aug. 1 and there is a waiting list. Hundreds of people have stayed there who would not otherwise have used the hotel at all.

"We could never afford the regular hotel rates," said a family man from Portland. "But $7 for a room for myself and my wife is perfectly reasonable and it is a privilege to be able to use the lovely hotel gardens and the conservatory."

"I don't mind going over to the Crystal Garden with a dressing gown over my swimsuit, but I wouldn't dream of wandering around the hotel like that. No Sir!"

Inquest Finds Shooting Accidental

Rifle Loaded By Boy Victim

The rifle which killed 10-year-old Reginald Alsford Monday afternoon was loaded by himself.

This was revealed at the inquest in McCall's Funeral Chapel today when a six-man jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

But there was no direct evidence as to who pulled the trigger while Reginald was playing with 10-year-old Vincent Liska in the basement of his home at 512 Selkirk.

Reginald, who lived at 216 Robert, was dead on arrival at Royal Jubilee Hospital soon after 3 p.m.

His companion, Vincent Liska, told the jury:

"I got out the gun and a bullet. I didn't know how to load it, but Reggie did. He loaded it and handed it back to me and it went off."

I AM SHOT

"He put his hands to his stomach and said 'I am shot.' He ran upstairs and outside and fell against a gate. He got up and ran towards the front of the house and fell again."

Victoria lawyer E. Jorre de St. Jorre represented Vincent at the inquest and asked that the boy be given protection under the Canada Evidence Act by which evidence given at an inquest cannot be used against him.

"Was that the first time you have handled a rifle?" Coroner H. E. Alder asked Reginald.

HAD HUNTED

"Well, I have been hunting with my Dad," the boy replied. He added that it was the first time he had handled a rifle on this occasion.

Dr. Ross McNeely said Reginald died from a bullet wound under the heart which severed an artery. The bullet passed through the abdominal wall, through the lower part of the stomach and through the central part of the pancreas and was deflected by the spine.

"The direction of the bullet was head on but slightly to the left," Dr. McNeely said. Vincent's stepfather, T. G. Rayfuse, said the rifle he gave to police after the accident was a Fabrique Nationale single shot .22 calibre.

This is the gun the boy said he had.

Mr. Rayfuse said he had owned the rifle since he was eight years old and kept it in a drawer in his basement well above the ground. Ammunition for the rifle was kept locked up in a box about six feet away.

"I was not at home at the time of the accident," he told the jury.

Funeral services will be conducted at McCall's funeral chapel Thursday at 3:15 p.m. by Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James, followed by burial at Royal Oak Cemetery.

Sooke Potholes Fire Controlled

A forest fire in Sooke west of the potholes is "well under control and we don't anticipate any problems with it," a B.C. Forest Service spokesman said today.

The fire, started Sunday by an arsonist, now has burned over 140 acres. There are still 80 men and six bulldozers at work containing the blaze.

It broke out on the CNR right-of-way about a mile from the potholes on Sooke Road. Soon after, a torch made of rags tied to a hammer handle was found at the scene. The offender is still at large.

VETERAN of 33 years of military service, most of it with PPCLI, Major Norman Featherstone retires this month from the Canadian Army. Born in 1912, he enlisted in the PPCLI at age of 16, was commissioned in 1941, and took part in the Sicily landings and other action with the unit. In 1958, after service at military posts across Canada, he came here as adjutant of Esquimalt Garrison. He is active in Masonic lodges, Victoria Horticultural Society, Canadian Club, and St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society. He and Mrs. Featherstone live at 1541 Despard Avenue.

Credit Union Official Remanded

Hugh Gordon MacKenzie, chief clerk in the city comptroller's department, listened impassively today as charges alleging $1,122.43 in thefts were read to him in city police court.

Arrested Tuesday in connection with a $3,522.43 shortage in Victoria Civic Credit Union funds, the 32-year employee of the city was remanded to next Tuesday to elect form of trial.

He is free on $1,000 bail.

MacKenzie, 51, appeared before Magistrate William Ostler.

He is treasurer of the credit union and president of the inside staff association.

A seven-count charge dating from July 30, 1960, alleges six thefts of $100 each and one of $250, over 11 months up to June 30 of this year.

Magistrate Ostler noted to counsel Gilbert Smith that a second charge, containing two counts, is also alleged, each count involving $1,200 for June 1 and July 3, 1961, respectively.

GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 359

19 Per Cent More Aided by Grants

University students eligible for provincial government "money-for-marks" scholarships have increased by 19 per cent over last year, with a total of 359 in the province who can have half their tuition fees paid by the government, 73 of them from Vancouver Island.

Ranging in value from $161 to $264, depending upon what faculty the student registers in, the government awards are made to all university students in the province with final averages for their year of 80 per cent or better.

They may be used at Victoria College or at the University of British Columbia.

Besides the students attaining first-class marks, a larger unspecified number with second class marks will have a third of their tuition paid.

Following is a list of Victoria and Island students whose first class marks entitle them to scholarships:

Salary
For Shrum

A $40,000-a-year salary will be paid Dr. Gordon Shrum as chairman and president of the new publicly-owned B.C. Electric Company, Premier Bennett announced today.

He gave pay and posts for all six directors of the new company, effective Sept. 1.

All are believed considerably below the salaries paid to officers of the old privately-owned company.

It is reported that Dr. A. E. Grauer received about $90,000 a year when he was chairman.

Second highest paid man in the new company is Dr. H. L. Purdy, former BCE president, who now is vice-president in charge of operations. He will get $35,000 a year, but is not on the board of directors.

GUNDERSON: $27,500

Einar M. Gunderson, a director and vice-president in charge of finance, will receive a total salary of $27,500.

William C. Moar, director and vice-president in charge of development, will get the same.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, appointed deputy chairman of the board, will receive no extra pay. He gets $17,500 a year as a cabinet minister.

The other two directors, Hon. Frank M. Ross and lawyer Arthur Foukes, will receive only directors' fees of $2,500 a year.

Mr. Gunderson will also lose his salary as vice-president of the PGE Railway. But the premier said it was not as much as he will receive from the B.C. Electric.

The policy became apparent after two press conferences here — one Tuesday afternoon, the other this morning.

Mr. Bennett said that B.C. needs to sell Columbia downstream benefits to the U.S. in order to finance the project.

He set his price today at 5 mills.

This, he said, would be "an adequate price" and higher than B.C. consumers would pay for power produced in B.C.

His condition for going ahead on the Columbia:

"The price must be settled before we agree with Ottawa."

"We need this money to finance the Columbia," he said.

PAY FOR ITSELF

At the same time, Mr. Bennett said the Peace River project being developed by the publicly-owned B.C. Electric would sell enough power in B.C. to pay for itself.

The Energy Board has estimated cost of this power at 4.20 mills.

It will not be necessary, apparently, for B.C. to export any Peace River power at all. In fact the premier left a strong impression that he does not intend to do this.

The Columbia, if it goes ahead, will be largely paid for through the sale of the downstream benefits, and its dams will not be used to generate any power until late in the century when either B.C. needs it, or there is a relaxation of Ottawa's ban on exporting power.

Mr. Bennett does not consider sale of the downstream benefits as export. In fact, he said that if they were returned to the Canadian border as power, it would be "import."

SOUND BUSINESS

By taking over the Peace project and starting right away, B.C. has ensured that Columbia negotiations will be "on sound business principles, not politics," said the premier.

He appears sure he can make the Americans meet his terms for the downstream benefits — power produced in the U.S. through water storage and

81 RESCUED IN ALPS;
AIR FORCE PROBE HELD

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—The pilot of a French jet fighter plane which sliced through the cable of an alpine aerial tramway Tuesday appeared today before an air force board of inquiry.

His plane was being examined by air force authorities. It was not known whether charges are planned against the pilot, identified only as Capt. Ziegler.

Meat Packing
Combine Hit

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal anti-combines report today cited Canada Packers Limited the country's biggest meat packing firm, as having bought out two independent companies in order to reduce competition on the Calgary and Montreal livestock markets.

The Restrictive Trade Practices Commission advised Justice Minister Fulton to seek a court order breaking up the 1955 merger of Calgary Packers Limited and Wilsil Limited of Montreal with Canada Packers or, failing that, an order preventing the Toronto-based firm from taking over other packers.

Mr. Fulton in an accompanying statement made no commitment beyond saying the "usual consideration" would be given to the commission's report, which followed allegations made by the justice department's investigators in July, 1959.

W. F. McLean, Canada Packers president, said in a statement that since company lawyers had received only one copy of the 450-page report he had not been able to study it in detail.

"I have, however, read the commission's appraisal of the evidence and its conclusions, which appear to be, as I expected, that the operations of this all-Canadian company have been in accordance with the law."

The action recommended by the commission would, if taken by the minister, make the first use of legislation passed last

50,000 Boost
For Canadian Armed Forces

OTTAWA (UPI)—Against the background of the Berlin crisis, the government will propose to Parliament when it meets next week that the ceiling on the Canadian armed forces be raised from 120,000 to 170,000, it was learned here today.

Cost of the expansion, which is the major new proposal readied by the government for next Thursday's resumed session of the House of Commons was estimated at $300,000,000.

Sources said that cabinet approved the policy during a recent absence on brief holidays of Finance Minister Fleming, whose hopes for an eventually balanced budget are directly involved in the decision.

IN THE RED

Prevailing opinion in federal financial circles is that the additional $300,000,000 annually for the armed services automatically postpones the prospects of a balanced budget indefinitely.

Official announcement of the decision will not be made until next week's reassembly of Parliament, since Commons approval will be necessary for the proposal and for the funds to carry it into effect, sources said.

During the past two weeks the cabinet has been in almost daily session. Prime Minister Diefenbaker repeatedly told newsmen the Berlin crisis and the international situation generally have formed the main topics of consideration during these sessions.

Diefenbaker also had indicated in general terms that Canada might increase its military contribution to NATO in light of the growing threat of the international situation.

He stopped short, however, of disclosing the extent of the contemplated expansion on grounds such details should be the subject of an announcement to Parliament.

Major importance is said to be attached by the government to its belief that its example of voluntarily increasing Canada's military expenditures beyond its present commitments will stimulate other NATO countries to more intensive efforts.

Major Projects
Mark ProgramBy GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Sparked by a tremendous surge in new apartment and housing building, Greater Victoria is entering the winter construction season with a program estimated by the various municipalities today to total $10 million or better.

In the city of Victoria alone, projects in sight for the next six months total well over the $6 million mark. It could go over $8 million, a city official said, with approval of the $1,115,000 downtown parking plan to be voted on Thursday, along with several other deals which are in preliminary stages of negotiation.

Long-term prospects for construction in the Victoria area also look good with several multi-million dollar projects already in view.

MARINE SERVICE

Largest of these is the federal transport plan to put up a $2,500,000 marine service headquarters next to the CPR terminal. Funds for this building are to be appropriated next spring and construction could get underway any time after that.

Another big federal transport department job will be construction of a new Patricia Bay airport terminal and runway extensions totalling $1,500,000 and slated for completion before next summer.

Greater Victoria school construction, beginning this year and stretching over three years, will also help to keep the industry busy in the future. A money bylaw to be submitted soon could run as high as $3 million for school building.

Four large apartment blocks in the Victoria area, three of them with price tags of about $1 million and the other costing over $600,000, will be well under way by late this fall.

APARTMENT BLOCKS

Two of the million dollar blocks are going up in Victoria, one on Rockland and the other in James Bay, while the third is the Garden City block under construction in Saanich. The $600,000 apartment is a six-storey plus penthouse building planned in Oak Bay.

In addition to residential construction, several industrial projects are known to be in the negotiation stages now, while the largest single industrial installation this year, additions to the $1,500,000 Victoria Machinery Depot division on Bay Street, will be completed this fall.

MOTOR HOTEL

There is also understood to be at least one large new motor hotel under consideration in the city to add to tourist accommodation facilities.

Tourist accommodation will already be increased by better than 150 rooms with completion of the Imperial Hotel soon along with the recently opened Tally Ho Hotel.

Russ Reject
New Formula
For Test Ban

GENEVA (Reuters)—Russia today rejected new American proposals aimed at reaching a treaty to ban nuclear tests, bringing the three-power talks here to the brink of collapse.

The proposals were made by American delegate Arthur Dean as the conference held its second session since his return from Washington with orders to do everything possible to bring about agreement.

But Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin turned them down in a harsh statement and persisted in Russia's demands that a test ban should be part of an overall disarmament agreement.

British delegate David Ormsby-Gore said after the meeting that Tsarapkin had made clear that Russia no longer wanted a separate treaty on banning tests, regardless of the terms.

Asked what he thought might be the next step in the negotiations, Ormsby-Gore said that "no doubt it will be for the United Nations to consider this question."

Dean offered a proposal which would protect Russia's interests by providing for dismissal of any member of the 11-nation control commission urged by the west who proved insubordinate or incompetent.

By Brazilian Congress

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—A demand by Brazil's military chiefs for a constitutional amendment blocking vice-president Joao Goulart from the presidency was flatly rejected in congress today and the nation appeared to edge closer to civil war.

Gen. Jose Machado Lopes, leader of the powerful Third Army in southern Brazil, refused an order relieving him of his command, according to radio broadcasts from Porto Alegre.

ed by plane from Paris today for New York, en route to Brazil.

In Brazil, the capital, a 16-man committee representing both houses of congress, rejected a request by military leaders for a proposed constitutional amendment aimed against Goulart.

The committee announced it was entirely for Goulart and in effect challenged the military leaders to close Congress. Former president Kubitschek said he was "very pessimistic" about the chances for avoiding civil war.

Kubitschek, now a senator, said in Brasilia that he had conferred with War Minister Odilio Denys in an effort to persuade him to lift his ban on Goulart's return but that Denys had refused.

"Once the military men get worked up it's impossible to stop them," Kubitschek said.

The ex-chief executive reiterated his support for Goulart. The order removing Lopes was believed prompted by Denys in an effort to break opposition among some segments of the armed forces to his anti-Goulart stand.
